1,000 MEN BATTLE RAGING BRUSH FIRE

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (AP)—An estimated 1,000 men, hampered by turbulent winds, struggled today to check a brush fire raging in mountain country eight miles northeast of this historic mission town.

The blaze broke out Sunday and consumed 10,000 acres of tall brush—some of it as high as 15 feet.

Hopes of early control of the fire were dashed when it jumped the Ortega Highway, a route linking San Juan Capistrano and Lake Elsinore. Firemen had sought to make a stand at the highway.

TIMES MAN SEES RECORD POLL

Close Vote Predicted At Trail

TRAIL—Rossland-Trail is expecting a record vote today to cap a provincial by-election campaign which has drawn the attention of all Canada.

BACK TO WORK

Nine-month wrangle over firing of Professor Harry S. Crowe ended today as Winnipeg's United College announced after board meeting Sunday it is reinstating Prof. Crowe. Case centered over a letter sent by Prof. Crowe to another faculty member, critical of the college.

Voting was fairly light here up to noon, but returning officer Mrs. S. E. Angus expected it to pick up when the shift changes at 3 p.m. at Cominco.

Light snow fell here this morning, but not enough to keep voters at home.

Complete final results may not be known for several hours after the polls close but the trend in how the vote is going should be known by 10 p.m.—two hours after the polls close.

For weeks, the district's 13,024 voters have been besieged from all sides—reminded every time they look at a paper, every time they turn on TV, every time they pass a store window, to vote for this or that candidate.

If they stayed home from meetings, they might find one of the candidates knocking on their door. Even going to work, they found smiling politicians waiting to shake their hands as they punched their time cards.

BALANCED

Support for the various parties has been so balanced during the hectic campaign that few observers are going right overboard on predictions.

Most of them think the result will be close and that if the Social Credit goes down to defeat after winning the seat three times, the CCF, as the official opposition, has the best chance.

But nobody is discounting the Liberal candidate, a family doctor with 25 years of service to families in the riding.

Though the number of registered voters in the riding is reduced 1,873 from the 1956 general election, the campaigning has been so intense, it is expected more than the 10,148 persons who voted then, will exercise their franchise today.

In the last election 5,097 votes went to the Social Credit party, 2,839 to the CCF, 1,960 to the Liberals and 252 to the Conservatives.

NEW FACTORS

Since then many things have occurred which could alter these figures.

The MLA who held the seat until last month, former cabinet minister Robert Sommers, vacated his seat after conviction for bribery. The government party has been under attack over handling of the case and on other fronts as well—most controversial being the charges brought by former B.C. Power Commission general manager H. Lee Briggs.

Needs Time To Prepare Presentation

By HAL MALONE
Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER — H. Lee Briggs today asked the Royal Commission probe into the B.C. Power Commission for a one-month adjournment to prepare his evidence.

Briggs, the man whose charges resulted in the inquiry, made his request through counsel Earl Vance, as the hearing opened here.

His counsel noted that the dismissed general manager had been requested to testify Wednesday in Victoria, where the commission also will hold hearings on the 18th and 22nd of December. It will then return to Vancouver for hearings Jan. 5 and 12.

Mr. Vance suggested that Mr. Briggs could not prepare an adequate brief in so short a time and said it would be impossible for his client to appear and give full testimony until sometime in the second week in January.

Chairman Gordon Shrum said the commission could not accept such a postponement and asked that Briggs appear on the 17th to give what testimony he could, appearing again later if necessary.

When Briggs' counsel insisted, chairman Shrum said he would consult with his fellow-commissioners on the matter.

FOUR TESTIFY

Four members of the power commission gave evidence as the first sitting opened. They were T. H. Crosby, chairman; Dr. H. J. MacLeod, commissioner; Garth Griffiths, director of administration; and E. T. Quirk, generation planning engineer.

The Royal Commission was told:

1. The B.C. Power Commission could have put through its proposed 12 per cent rate boost last Oct. 1 without the authority of the lieutenant governor-in-council.

2. Unless a rate increase is put into effect in the near future, the B.C. Power Commission is clearly headed for heavy operating deficits.

3. A difference of interest rate of 1 per cent in money borrowed for the construction of a large hydro project can mean a difference of 17 per cent in the cost of producing the power when the project is completed.

4. The B.C. Power Commission serves 80,000, or 18 per cent of the 450,000 electrical customers in B.C. In providing this service, the commission covers 57 per cent of the geographical area of the province.

"NOT INDIVIDUALS"

Dr. Shrum said the Royal Commission was set up to enquire into the operations of the B.C. Power Commission and its rate structure.

"This is not an investigation of individuals," Dr. Shrum said. "The Power Commission advised the provincial government on Sept. 11 of its intent to revise its rates for an average increase in revenue of 12 per cent per kilowatt hour and proposed to put these into effect on Oct. 1, 1958."

The commissioner said Premier Bennett had requested the commission to defer the action pending examination of the figures submitted by the comptroller general. This examination is continuing.

John D. Back At Work

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker returned to the capital today from his world tour and then planned to meet his cabinet in the afternoon to give them "a broad outline" of his impressions.

His RCAF C-5 transport landed at nearby Uplands at 12 noon where the prime minister was greeted by a crowd of about 200 and members of his cabinet and the diplomatic corps.

He had cut short his world tour to fly to the bedside of his 86-year-old mother in a Saskatoon hospital.

After alighting from the aircraft Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker personally thanked each member of the crew that had flown them on his trip.

Later, the prime minister talked to reporters in an RCAF hangar.

HAPPY TO BE BACK

"I am very happy to be back and I am looking forward to the events of the next few weeks," he said.

The prime minister said the date for the opening of the next parliamentary session may be set today, certainly some time this week.

He declined comment on the cabinet's recent decision to allow the railways a freight rate increase of 17 per cent worth some $60,000,000 over the ob-

Free Trade Offer Made By Britain

PARIS (Reuters)—Britain offered today to throw open her home markets to the six countries of the European Common Market in a new bid to prevent a threatened trade war in Western Europe.

The surprise proposal was made to the ministerial council of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation, meeting here to discuss the breakdown in negotiations for a 17-country European free trade area.

The offer was designed to obtain similar acceptance of British goods by the six Common Market countries when their new trade alliance goes into effect Jan. 1.

The Common Market members went into an immediate meeting to consider the British proposal. But Common Market sources said acceptance of the British plan would mean "drowning" the six-nation pact.

Nobody Will Buy. Our Arrow

PARIS (Reuters)—Canada's Defence Minister Pearkes said today the United States has definitely rejected Canada's Avro Arrow twin-engine supersonic CF-105 fighter.

He told reporters he had talks in Paris with U.S. Defence Secretary Neil McElroy, who informed him of the American final answer.

"I have had no success in attempting to interest the Americans in the purchase of the 105—that is final and definite," Pearkes said.

The Canadian government would make a decision regarding the future of the 105 by March 1.

TRIED BRITAIN, EUROPE

Pearkes also said he had discussed the possibility of European NATO countries being interested in the aircraft, but none—not even Britain—had the required Semi-Automatic Ground Environment SAGE system, which obtain information from radar and automatic processes and passes it to ground control towers and aircraft in flight.

Pearkes said there would be "an honest attempt" in the NATO ministerial council session to meet the minimum military requirements of Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme allied commander in Europe, and that Canada has made every effort successfully to meet her commitments.

Pearkes said he visited the Canadian brigade in Europe a few days ago and found the men "ready for any emergency which may arise."

ONE-LEGGED KIDNAPPER

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A one-legged hitch-hiker who kidnapped two University of Western Ontario students, robbed them of $132, threw them out of their car at Cooksville and disappeared with the car is being sought by police throughout Ontario.

London Township police said: "We know who the man is."

"It's just a question of tracking him down in Toronto. It's pretty hard for a one-legged man to keep out of sight."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Teach us, our God, along with the wisdom to work, the insight to relax. With the load off our shoulders enable us to sense our errors and to choose the wiser plan. Grant us, while resting, discernment through friends, nurture in books, quietness at home, the lift of new ideas; in the name of Christ, who said, "Come away by yourselves, and rest a while." Amen.

Reds Charge U.S. Plane Opened Fire

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union today protested the "unprovoked fire opened by a United States military aircraft upon a Soviet fighter" near Latvia, Moscow Radio reported.

The charge came in a reply to a U.S. note of Nov. 13 asking information about 11 American airmen whose plane crashed in Soviet Armenia in September.

In the latest note, the Soviet government reiterated that all responsibility for "dangerous flights by U.S. aircraft" and violation of Soviet frontiers rests with the American government.

It said it was clearly established that American planes on Nov. 7 and 8 carried out deliberate flights for hostile purposes in the Baltic and in the Far East, and called on the U.S. government to forbid once and for all U.S. Air Force flights toward the state frontiers of the U.S.S.R.

60 Children Hurt

LONDON (Reuters)—Some 60 children were slightly injured today in Wigan, Northern England, when two school buses collided as more than 55,000 miles of main roads were in the grip of ice, fog, floods or snow.

Laroché, who was fatally injured, was one of 24 workers who had gone to work shortly before on the construction job.

'MILK FOR HUNGRY CHILDREN'

Small Sacrifice, Big Help

You can feed a starving child milk for a month—one glass daily—for a paltry 1½ cents.

This is the cost of transportation of free powdered milk provided by the Canadian government, designed for children of Korea, India and Hong Kong—if the money needed can be raised by month's end.

A half package of cigarettes less within the next 15 days for dad; just a slight cut-back in candies for the kids; using those old bobby pins instead of buying a new package for mother—this will provide milk for more than 50 little victims of privation.

Not much of a sacrifice, you say?

It isn't, really, in this season exchanging gifts with loved ones and 'friends.' Anybody, just anybody, can do it.

And many Victorians have, 58 of them over the weekend, jumping the Untarian Service Committee fund by close to $375.

The Victoria Times is administering the "Milk for Hungry Children" fund here. Donations are income tax deductible.

When you hear the sentiments expressed in Christmas carols—"this is the season to be merry," etc., etc.—try and apply them to a hungry child. They are not always apropos, without a little help from us.

that the government was undermining public power in B.C.

Since then also there has been a revival of the Conservatives in the federal field and re-organization has been undertaken by the Liberals.

And steps have been taken to bring greater unity between the CCF and labor.

If these factors combine to defeat the Social Credit party, opposition parties are expected to demand a general election on grounds a want-of-confidence vote in the government has been expressed.

BENNETT LEAVES

A battery of cabinet ministers also has returned to Victoria. Left to help organize teams of scrutineers and fleets of cars to get out the voters are the candidates—Donald Brothers, Social Credit, 35-year-old lawyer; Dr. F. E. Krause, Liberal, 58, physician and surgeon; F. E. DeVito, CCF, 38, trail alderman, and Alex Brokenshire, Conservative, 41, Cominco personnel officer.

It is the first by-election in B.C. since Sept. 9, 1957, when Social Credit retained two seats and the CCF one in voting in three ridings.

Standing in the legislature: Social Credit 37, CCF 10, Liberal 2, Independent 2, vacant 1. Total 52.

NO FURTHER INCREASE

On the Colombo Plan, he indicated the government has no present plans for a further increase in Canadian aid beyond the $50,000,000 it plans to contribute in the next fiscal year starting April 1. The contribution this year was $35,000,000.

He said one could not realize the success of the Colombo Plan "without seeing it in operation" as he had. The plan was one of the "most hopeful institutions of our time."

Asked to comment on possible Canadian recognition of Communist China, he said "I'll deal with that later on." During the brief reference to this subject, he added he has at present no particular plans for meeting soon with President Eisenhower.

NEVER FELT BETTER

The prime minister appeared to be in fine fettle. He told reporters "I have never felt better in years."

Asked whether he considered the trip exhausting, he said it was no worse than a Canadian general election campaign.

He said he was returning to Canada with a "new realization of the importance of the Commonwealth." There was a "very real desire" among Commonwealth members to co-operate for prosperity and freedom. Without exception, he had found warmth everywhere for Canada and Canadians.

amination was still in progress, Dr. MacLeod said, but added:

"Unless a rate increase is put into effect in the near future, the B.C. Power Commission is clearly headed for heavy operating deficits."

MILLION A YEAR

He said the underlying reason for the rates revision is the higher cost of energy and one of the factors involved was higher interest rates which are a direct charge on operations. He said higher interest rates on recent bond issues account for an additional interest cost to the commission of about $1,000,000 a year.

Mr. Crosby, who is chairman of the Power Commission, said that capital assets of the commission had increased from $70,000,000 to $170,000,000 since the appointment of the present commission in March, 1954 and the number of customers had increased from 52,000 to 80,000.

He outlined the general policy and financing of the commission.

Mr. Griffiths, power commission's director of administration, testified that interest on borrowed money constitutes the largest single item of operating cost. For this reason, he said, low interest rates are vital if power is to be available to the public at low rates.

He said that during the last year the commission almost doubled its long-term debt, entering the bond market with no less than seven issues totalling $85,000,000.

MINUTE RETURNS

On the general operating picture, he said, only 2/10 of a cent was left out of every dollar of revenue when all expenses had been met and suitable provisions for emergencies had been made. This surplus was "microscopic point 0.02 per cent of average capital investment."

He said the present gross return on $100 of investment capital is $8.80 and added:

"It is very doubtful whether any electric utility in Canada engaged in generation, transmission and distribution, is able to operate and remain solvent with such a low ratio. The ratio is usually at least double that of the commission's operation."

Two New MPs Picked Today

OTTAWA (CP) — Voting took place today in two federal by-elections to name new Commons members for the residential riding of Toronto Trinity and the primarily rural seat of Springfield, Man.

Both fell to the Progressive Conservatives in their general election landslide last March 31. Although campaigning generally was quiet in both constituencies, the Liberal and CCF parties have worked hard to reverse those results.

Each of the three parties is represented in Springfield, while a Communist candidate makes it a four-way fight in Trinity.

Polling began at 8 a.m. local time, and concludes at 6 p.m.

A break in a month-long cold spell favored voters at Springfield. Early voting was slow at six polls in Beausejour but party officials said voting increased near noon.

Candidates for the seat left vacant by the death of Progressive Conservative Val Yacula are: Jacob (Jake) Schulz of Winnipeg, CCF; Anton B. Weselak of Beausejour, Liberal, and Dr. Joseph B. Sloan, Progressive Conservative.

There are 118 polls and about 21,800 voters in the big eastern Manitoba riding.

At Toronto, scattered snow flurries and a high of 25 above zero were forecast.

COULD SET RECORD

One aspect of the voting was the fact that retention of both seats by the government would provide a new Canadian high in the number of Commons members mustered by a party. The Conservatives made history in March with a total of 208 and could make it 209 today.

Present Commons standing is Conservatives 207, Liberals 48, CCF 8, vacant 2—total 265.

What was called a young man's contest shaped up in Toronto Trinity, a multi-language constituency in the city's west end where immigrant residents have steadily increased. There were 28,188 eligible voters—more than 2,000 down on the total of last March.

Carrying the Conservative banner is Dr. Joseph Lesniak, 26, a bachelor dentist. Paul Hellyer, 35, a construction company executive who was associate defence minister briefly in the last Liberal cabinet, is the Liberal. Union secretary John Elchuk, 27, represents the CCF, and Sam Walsh, 42, a former union organizer, stands for the Communists.

The death of E. R. Lockyer forced the Toronto byelection.

College Rehires Crowe As Churchill Steps In

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prof. Harry S. Crowe was reinstated at United College today following a nine-month wrangle over a private letter that led to his dismissal and the resignation of 16 other persons.

The reinstatement was announced in a terse 56-word statement from the board of regents which gave no details on how the settlement was reached.

It said the 36-year-old associate professor of history, dismissed in September, would resume his duties immediately.

The statement, issued on behalf of Allan H. Watson, board chairman, said:

"The board hopes that all concerned will now unite in an effort to enable United College to continue its rightful place in the academic world."

It was learned the decision to reinstate Prof. Crowe was made at a board meeting Sunday attended by Trade Minister Gordon Churchill, a member of the board. He had not attended previous meetings on the dispute.

He attended Sunday's meeting after being approached by a third person, a mutual friend of the minister and Mr. Crowe, and receiving a memorandum from Mr. Crowe stating his anxiety to settle the dispute.

Mr. Churchill was returning to Ottawa today and was not available for comment.

In a statement, Prof. Crowe said he had no comment to make on the board's statement but said that with the consent of Mr. Churchill he was releasing a memorandum which he handed to Mr. Churchill on Saturday.

"Memorandum to the Honorable Gordon Churchill: 'When I began last April the defence of what I conceived to be my rights as a citizen and as a member of the academic profession, it did not occur to me that the point might be reached where the very existence of United College with its long traditions and in many ways, unique position in Canadian society, would be brought into question. That point seems now to have been reached.'

"As a former student of the college and as a faculty member I am proud of the traditions of the college and aware of its vital role in the community. 'For these reasons and in the interests of the students I am most anxious to effect the termination of the public debate of the affairs of the college, to resume my duties in the classroom, to begin within the walls of the college the process of reconstruction and the restoration of academic confidence in the college.'

"GLORIOUS 60s' CRY STARTED BY BENNETT

TRAIL—Premier Bennett said Saturday night the B.C. government plans to spend $1,000,000,000 on highways, bridges and other projects in the "Glorious 1960s."

"We have spent millions on highways and bridges and we intend to do more," he said. "In the glorious 1960s, we will spend $1,000,000,000 more on those and other things."

"This is the main issue in the election—don't be misled by the old parties."

Saying that he had telegrams from people throughout B.C. complaining of too much spending in the Kootenays, the premier told hecklers that last year the government spent three times as much money in this riding as his own constituency of South Okanagan.

"We have great plans for Trail and this riding," the premier said.

Summit Session Urged by Reds

BERLIN (AP) — The Communist party leaders of East Germany and Poland called today for a summit conference, claiming that such a meeting is necessary to head off war.

A communique signed by Walter Ulbricht of East Germany and Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland urged leaders of the world's great powers to renew disarmament negotiations and create a central European zone free of atomic weapons—the latter an idea put forward by Poland's foreign minister, Adam Rapacki.

Ulbricht returned today from a six-day visit in Poland and said that country had pledged full support for the Soviet drive to get Western troops out of Berlin.

Ulbricht didn't say so, but he was obviously referring to Western threats that tanks and airplanes might be used if East Germany attempts to cut the allied military supply lines running into isolated West Berlin. The Soviet Union announced Nov. 27 that it will give East Germany control over these supply lines in six months.

Today's edition of Jungle Welt, the official East German Communist youth newspaper warned that Western tanks will be met with Communist tanks.

"We also have tanks," the paper said, "and other weapons that are even stronger."

'You Ignored Us' Russia Complains

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio today accused the foreign ministers of the Western Big Three of ignoring the Soviet proposal to make Berlin a demilitarized free city.

The broadcast was the first Soviet comment on the foreign ministers' statement in Paris on Sunday that their governments will not be forced out of West Berlin and will not do business with the East German regime.

The Soviet radio said the Western communique "bears witness to their unwillingness to allow any change in the abnormal situation in Berlin."

"In essence, it gives no reply to the Soviet proposals."

PROMISES ACTION
This was followed by a fresh promise in Pravda to defend East Germany from aggression.

"The Soviet Union will not be hampered by irresponsible threats made by certain Western windbags who declare they will hold a clear road to Berlin with troops and tanks," the Communist party organ said.

"If aggression against the German Democratic Republic were nevertheless carried out, the Soviet Union, as the German Democratic Republic's loyal ally in the Warsaw Treaty, will fulfill its obligations and together with the German Democratic Republic will defend the integrity of her land, water and aerial frontiers."

Pravda's direct reference to East Germany's aerial frontiers could be taken as a warning against any attempt to airlift supplies to West Berlin if it is again cut off from the West.

The paper said Western at-

Chinese Reds 'Easing Up' On Communes

PEIPING (Reuters) — Communist Chinese leaders appeared to be easing up today in their headlong campaign to resettle millions of people in vast, regimented communes.

Communist newspapers have conceded mistakes in the running of the more than 26,000 communes set up in the last six months. There also have been official reports of dissatisfaction, misgiving and even opposition to some aspects of mass life in the military-style social units.

Communist leaders have sent out thousands of inspection teams with the job of "reorganizing, consolidating and improving" the communes.

The teams investigated peasant complaints about food and ordered improvements in the service in the public mess halls.

B.C. Reporters Called 'Good Fiction Writers'

Bennett Criticizes Press Coverage Before 900 at Final Trail Meeting

By PETE LOUDON
Times Political Reporter

TRAIL — Premier Bennett teed off on B.C.'s newspaper reporters in an address here Saturday night. He called them "great writers of fiction."

Addressing 900 persons in a windup meeting before today's by-election, the premier said press coverage of events left a lot to be desired.

"When you look in the papers the next day, you can't believe your eyes... they are great writers of fiction."

It was the first time the premier had lowered his sights in his press criticism. He usually attacks the editorial writers.

The premier referred to the free space given him to explain his government's actions and policies last week. (A Vancouver newspaper gave the premier "free hand" in its news columns to write anything he wanted.)

He was glad the Social

Credit didn't have its own press.

"I give thanks every night we haven't got a press. When they go too far, even their own consciences bother them, then they give the premier pages and pages free..."

The meeting was much quieter than had been anticipated and the premier made no major announcement. He concentrated on his government's accomplishments.

Before the meeting the RCMP were reported to have searched the hall, but didn't say what they were seeking.

The premier said as long as he's premier, he will never play one section of the province against another.

'Socreds All Came Up Hard Way'

"None of us in Social Credit were born with silver spoons. Everyone of us came up the hard way..."

"I was on a street car in Vancouver a couple of years ago. A man went by in a big black Cadillac."

"Another man on the street car was laughing as the Cadillac went by and said: 'He's paying my hospital insurance.'"

He told the audience the new bridge promised for Trail next year will be a four-lane structure.

He said if the old-line parties got 10 miles east of Hastings Street, they'd be lost.

"This is the first time you've ever heard of a government giving the great interior of this province a fair deal... the first time you've had an interior government recognizing the value (of that area) and doing something about it... I think the interior should back its interior premier and send somebody down to help me..."

"Do you want to be part of the construction crew or join in the wrecking gang?"

"We've got the forward look," said the premier.

"Same old dodge," cried a man in the audience.

"Why are the mayors in this community all backing us? They know the difference between political blab, blab, blab and the truth..."

'Build Highway if You Want It'

"We'll build an arterial highway through the Gulch (West Trail), if you want it. You'll have to decide that for yourself."

In answer to a question, the premier said it was false that B.C. was not spending more than other provinces on highways.

"On a per capita basis that is false."

Asked whether the 3 per cent tax could be reduced to 4 per cent, he said, "that would be up to the legislature, but this province needs so many things we should render these services without taking the tax off."

Does the premier repudiate Bob Sommers?

Question on Sommers Ducked

A questioner wanted the premier's opinion of a newspaper report that Robert Sommers "saw it's a pity he had to go to jail to see fulfilled the promises he made for roads and bridges..."

"There's a lot of statements in the press I've seen which are not correct," said the premier.

He recalled one editor having to apologize for a report the premier had met with the Sons of Freedom in secret.

He said there were no strings attached to the promises of a new bridge across the Columbia at Trail.

He said no project offers more hope of development in the Kootenays than Columbia hydro development, but "some plans I've seen would flood Trail. We'd never stand for that."

"We want new industry, and I tell you we can get a steel mill if we have an abundance of power."

The chairman called a halt to questioning while several persons were waiting to be recognized.

U.S.-Canada Joint Defence Meeting Held

PARIS (Reuters) — The first meeting of a recently established American-Canadian defence committee took place today.

U.S. Secretary Dulles and Canadian External Affairs Minister Smith attended. Both men are here for the opening Tuesday of Atlantic Pact talks.

A statement issued afterwards said the committee "reviewed matters connected with efforts of the two governments in the joint defence of North America with a view to further strengthening of the essential co-operation of the two governments in the defence field."

The committee was established last July by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Diefenbaker. It will meet normally in Washington or Ottawa. Today's session at the Canadian Embassy was arranged to take advantage of the presence here of officials of both countries.

Russ Reach 'Inaccessible' Pole Location

LONDON (AP) — A Russian Antarctic observation station has been set up at the Pole of Inaccessibility.

The pole is 600 miles toward the Indian Ocean from the geographic South Pole. The pole was named as the spot regarded by explorers as the most difficult to reach overland.

An 18-member Soviet expedition travelled 1,366 miles over ice and snow from the Russian Mirny observatory on the Indian Ocean side of the Antarctic, Moscow radio said.

Did FDR Provoke Japanese?

TORONTO (CP)—Gen. Gilbert C. Wedemeyer says he stands by his view that President Franklin D. Roosevelt deliberately provoked Japan into the attack at Pearl Harbor which brought the United States into the Second World War.

Appearing Sunday on a Toronto television program, Fighting Words, the 61-year-old general who commanded U.S. forces in the China theatre in the final stages of the war said the U.S. had not been truly neutral from the outbreak of the war. When Japan sought to negotiate with the U.S. in 1941, the American attitude was uncompromising, if not belligerent.

Baby's Parents Give Up Fight

TORONTO (CP) — The parents of an eight-day-old baby stricken with a blood disorder today abandoned their attempt to block transfusions.

Their lawyer announced he wouldn't go to the Ontario Supreme Court to upset the family court ruling Saturday night that permitted doctors to give two transfusions despite protests from the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, both 27.

Lawyer Glen How said further legal action was being dropped "because it would do no good."

The parents had refused permission for transfusions for tiny Lori Lynn because they are Jehovah's Witnesses. The sect interprets biblical passages as forbidding the eating of blood or use of transfusions.

The Frightened Investor

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT is finding it difficult to sell even a new issue of bonds that can be redeemed at their original selling price two years hence. This issue of $400,000,000 was snapped up by banks and bond dealers, but its subsequent retail sale to private investors is moving slowly and its price already has dropped on the market.

But unsatisfactory as this reception has been, the new bonds with their guaranteed floor price two years hence furnish no true test of the government's credit. The true test is the price of ordinary bonds that rise or fall on the market with no guaranteed redemption price until the date of maturity. By that test the Government's credit continues to fall, which means that interest rates continue to rise.

When the Government undertook to sell some $6.4 billions of ordinary bonds last summer its unprecedented selling campaign was a failure among the ordinary investors, though the price of the bonds was highly attractive, the interest rate extremely high. (The Government had previously promised to reduce all interest rates.)

At the end of the campaign the investing public held less Government bonds than it had held a year earlier. The Government was therefore compelled to borrow from the banks all the extra money it needed at the moment to cover its gigantic deficits.

It is true, of course, that the refunding operation was a success insofar as it put much of the national debt on a longer-term and more orderly basis. As a test of public confidence in government bonds the operation failed completely.

Not only did the public refuse to increase its holdings of government bonds but the cash value of the newly-issued bonds immediately fell. While Mr. Diefenbaker said the refunding scheme would "stabilize" the whole bond market, the longer-term issues, sold at $100 some five months ago have sold recently for $96. A man who bought such a bond last summer and sold it recently lost $4.

Or, to put the same process another way, the interest rate on bonds of two to five-year maturity for example, has risen in five months from 3½ to 4½ per cent. All interest rates, governed by the rate on federal bonds, have risen accordingly, to the grave detriment of provincial and municipal governments and of private borrowers.

Clearly the bond market has not been stabilized as Mr. Diefenbaker hoped. It can never be stabilized so long as the Federal Government is borrowing on a gigantic scale to cover its deficits and thereby pushing up the price of money by the law of supply and demand.

Since last summer the Government's credit, it is now clear, has fallen drastically. It has been compelled to pay more and more for money simply because the investing public doubts the future value of the dollar, as well it may when the Government's deficits, among other things, are feeding the inflationary fire.

The other results of the deficits are too numerous to be discussed here but will be discussed later. The immediate point is that the recent sales of liquid bonds do not represent any improvement in the bond market or the Government's credit.

On the contrary, private investors are buying these bonds as a temporary refuge for money while they are afraid to buy ordinary bonds lest their price continue to fall and the value of their money continue to erode as prices rise.

Playing With Dynamite

TWO LANGFORD BOYS LIE IN hospital with injured hands and eyes—proof that they have learned the hard way about the risks of explosives.

At Nanaimo last week, a police magistrate sentenced two other juveniles for the theft of blasting caps.

These are two typical incidents carried almost daily in the news as youth marks its entry into the rocket age. The cases cited are close to home. They could be duplicated in many other parts of the continent.

Since the invention of explosives, boys have been fascinated by their power. The young generation today is not trail-blazing in experiments with such items as dynamite, black powder or blasting caps. But the young generation today has had its interest in such materials vastly increased by the current importance of substances which at least simulate the action of rocket fuels.

Because that interest is so high it seems necessary to enforce more stringent regulations to prevent easy access to explosives by people, young or old, too ignorant or too incautious to use them safely. Existing precautions for the keeping of blasting caps and the like should be increased. A greater proof of responsibility should be required before explosives can be purchased.

It is doubtful, however, if regulations in themselves can be 100 per cent effective. Youths sometimes have stolen supplies. But at least those competent people who handle explosives should see that they are stored in such a way that the inexperienced or careless will have the greatest difficulty in laying their hands on them.

Beyond that there is a need for parents and other adults to drive home to their children or wards the dangers they run when they experiment with these materials. The youngsters are literally playing with dynamite.

Is it necessary to load more hospital beds with victims to prove the senselessness of such activity?

Sudbury's Wives

WIVES OF INTERNATIONAL Nickel Company strikers have pointed up the hardships inflicted on families by the walkout at Sudbury.

They are calling on their husbands to go back to work even if a possible new agreement includes no wage increase next year. Thus a new factor has been introduced into labor relations documenting the slogan: "Never underestimate the power of a woman."

Earlier, objective newspapermen had described the situation which has made this strike such a disaster to the working force. The union called it at a time when the company had adequate supplies to meet market demands for some time to come. Apart from humanitarian considerations, the company stood to benefit from an idle plant while supplies were being moved.

The general principle is not without application to British Columbia. This province depends on exports. It is prosperous or depressed according to the market for its products. If its costs of production rise too high, the doors to the market close against it. When the doors close they automatically eliminate jobs as surely as if men go on strike. The inevitable hardships follow.

The women of Sudbury are underscoring the point that attractive as higher pay may be, jobs are more important. They at least provide some pay. Idle industry does not. And industry can be made idle in other ways than by a strike.

Bank Night

ONE OF THE CONTINUING "charities" of this community is the blood clinic which monthly asks for donations of the life-saving fluid. While controversy periodically flares over the multiplicity of cash appeals made to housewives, the blood bank is one welfare agency which does not tax the donor's purse. All that is asked is half an hour of the giver's time and a pint of his or her blood.

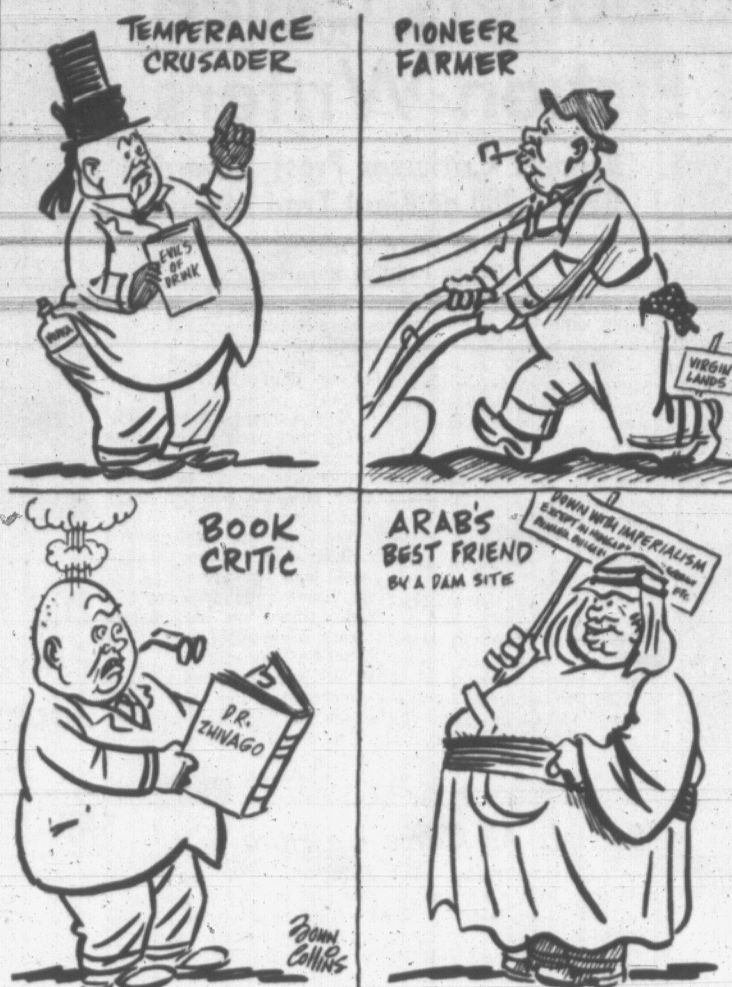

The value of the blood bank has been demonstrated innumerable times. It has saved lives, speeded recoveries, helped suffering humanity in scores of ways. Yet there is a constant call on its resources and a corresponding need to replenish its stocks.

This week, on Wednesday and Thursday, the local blood clinic makes its last appeal of this year. It is one that should be heeded, and it is to be hoped that the approach of the festive season will move prospective contributors in more than the usual numbers to pay a visit to the Fort Street premises.

It is as good a way as any to demonstrate that you are thankful for your health and strength and the opportunity to help others. Those who go for the first time will find a ready welcome, an attentive staff—and nothing at all to fear.

It could be you yourself who will be the bank's next beneficiary.

One Man in His Time Plays Many Parts

CROWDED CRYSTAL BALL

The Silent Explosion

IN the years following the First Great War you often heard the phrase "Yellow Peril." It usually represented a vague allusion to the teeming populations of the Orient and what they might be up to when they entered more fully into what we call the modern world. It was a scary thought, not really believed, but it lingered on for some years. Then other "perils" replaced it, culminating in the field grey peril of Hitler's marching troops. Hardly was this peril overcome than the Red Peril achieved priority, and it still holds top position today for many who see Communism as the worst threat to world peace and happiness.

Tobin

Of course, everybody knew China was still in existence. But it was far away, minding its own business, and came into the news only as a victim of Japanese aggression.

It was not until the Korean war that a hint of the old Yellow Peril idea again entered the public mind to a significant extent. The "human sea" battle tactics of the Chinese troops in Korea were a concrete example of what the old-timers who warned of the Yellow Peril had meant—the employment of massed humanity, the disregard of human life, and the rejection of the individual as an important factor in the scheme of things.

And now, in the lull following active warfare, the population experts are reviving interest in the population of Asia again. They are not shouting Yellow Peril; they are just quoting their statistics. And one prediction, perhaps exaggerated, is that by the end of this century, around the year 2000, nearly one-half of the population of the world will be Chinese.

On Performance

That is an estimate through projection, of course. It is obtained by noting the increase of population over past years and assuming that the rate of multiplication will continue. It is subject not only to mathematical corrections but also to practical considerations.

Drawing a graph line onwards and upwards does not necessarily give a true picture of what is to come. Put some rabbits in a fenced enclosure and you could estimate that in a certain time there would be a million of them.

That might be possible through mathematical progression, but the practical fact that there was not enough food in the enclosure to feed more than a few hundred would soon assert itself. And this would be quite apart from such considerations as control through disease, predators, flood or other occurrences.

Another factor is self-imposed curtailment of the birth-rate. China, like India, has announced a birth-control program which, it is said, could cut its birth date in half within the next ten years. But whether this is an actual program or merely a statistical comment remains to be seen.

The fact remains that even with a somewhat reduced birth rate, China's population will continue to expand. A rough estimate in 1926 gave China a population of 450 millions. Today, with a much more accurate calculation, it is set at more than 600 millions. That is, in one generation it has increased by more than one-third.

The whole world is zooming in much the same manner. The earth's inhabitants are estimated to number 2.7 billions now. By the end of the century they could total six or seven billions. Such a terrific rate of increase, unknown in earlier eras, is termed a population explosion—and it could well have explosive effects.

Economic Change

Of equal importance with China's population change, of course, is the change that is taking place in its economy. It still has a long way to go industrially, but it has come a long way, too. And the Communist form of social organization while it can be imposed on the people—will squeeze the last ounce of effort out of the working force. Industrial development may therefore be increasingly rapid.

What will be the end result? A nation of three billions complete with hydrogen bombs, intercontinental missiles and a willingness to trade punches with any other power or group of powers in the belief that it could lose a billion or two casualties and still emerge on top?

That is looking rather far into the future but it could be possible. It is the sort of thing that the men in the Kremlin must think about at night when they are battling insomnia.

It might be one reason why Mr. Khrushchev is renewing his attempts to get Germany sewed up on his western flank. The German industrial potential would be quite an asset to possess as the Chinese competition increases. The future Anglo-American position is even more difficult to assess.

But all such peeks into the future are pure speculation. History doesn't give much comfort in such cases—for history is replete with the rise and fall of empires and whole civilizations, of various skin colors and ideologies. And there have been some strange bedfellows in the struggles that accompanied the changes—with history providing no bed of roses.

Facts Are Facts

The following appeared as a letter to an eastern paper. It seems to be appropriate in the light of the up-land balloting on fluoridation.

"A patient told me the following story, which I enjoyed so much and decided to pass it along.

"The second grade class was having its semi-weekly 'show and tell' period, and this little girl had brought her little kitten. She described it, head, legs, tail, spots, etc.

"Then came the inevitable question: 'Is it a girl kitten or boy kitten?' She didn't know. The teacher was asked and she couldn't help. After a period of discussion, finally one bright boy said, 'Let's take a vote'.

"Which reminds me so much of fluoridation referendums."

Danger Ahead

American investments in Canada are growing and are now over $17,000 million. They control over 42 per cent of our basic industries — this is apart from huge British, German and other foreign investments and the recent Swedish Wenner-Gren sell-out in Northern British Columbia.

The above facts inspired me to speculate on what will happen to our people after the most valuable basic resources and key industries have been sold to outside absentee investors and speculators from countries who are running short of raw materials.

India, until recently a poor backward Colonial country, has shown her determination to retain ownership and control of her resources and economy, even if it means slower progress at first, in her effort to build a better life for her people. She is now proud of her recently won independence and aims to establish economic freedom as well.

More spectacular is China's recent awakening. Less than ten years ago she was one of the poorest and most backward countries. A large percentage of her six hundred million people were uneducated and illiterate. Their country was torn asunder for many years by a corrupt government, eight years of war with Japan, and boycott by the industrial Western nations, with whom she sought trade and credit. Her tireless efforts and a certain amount of help in trade and credit from the Soviet Union will, she anticipates, bring her up in industrial production and living standards, from her state of devastation to the level of the average western countries, by the end of the next fifteen years.

It should be clear to all of us that if the uneducated, untrained Hindus and Chinese can develop their countries from "scratch," depending on trade with other countries rather than outside capital, we Canadians should be able to find a way to keep ahead, and give a helping hand to those countries which we call backward. If we fail to do this by losing our economic independence, we should be ashamed of ourselves.

She Was There

How quick we are at times to condemn or judge others, particularly our students of today. I am referring to the various outbursts of letters in the press following the meeting at the Victoria College between the Premier and the students, on Nov. 26, 1958. I happened to be present.

The Premier, when he did appear on the platform, received a big ovation of hand clapping, not boos and hisses, as reported. The students gave the Premier every attention while he made his speech, with the exception of a student probably asking for more information on the subject being discussed.

I do not uphold vandalism, etc., but I do give credit where credit is due, namely to the students of the Victoria College who, at times, naturally let off steam, but they are far from being hoodlums, as some are prepared to term them. Besides their own studies, they are strong supporters of community work here in Victoria, having freely given their time, funds and efforts in assisting such worthwhile causes as The Protestant Orphanage Annual Party, a party for the children at Seven Oaks, canvassing for financial assistance in the recent Kiwanis campaign, helping to distribute posters for the Unemployment Office, and many other projects.

Therefore, I do feel an injustice is being done, maybe not with prejudice, but the lack of the true facts of what I thought was a good political meeting, that no doubt a number of adults would have enjoyed, as did the Premier.

Yours for a better understanding of our students, and our progressive education in a democratic country, which will help build and produce a better understanding and a more Christian way of life.

The Finest Drink

The daily articles in the Times on health from your regular contributor, Dr. W. C. Alvarez, are appreciated. May I add more to what he wrote in the Dec. 11 issue on drinking water. First, pure water is the natural and best beverage to drink.

Tea, coffee, or soft drinks, beer and alcoholic beverages introduce harmful substances into the system. Secondly, it is beneficial to drink a glass or two of water in the morning on arising and between meals throughout the day but not before retiring. Drinking at meals is harmful to digestion, diluting the contents of the stomach and hindering digestion. Some who can not take cold water may have it warm or hot.

The Army and the Street

THIS sunny city between the mountains and the sea is a pleasant place to catch your breath between grim bouts of political inquiry. You get a better perspective, too, after a short pause for lotus eating. But just this improved perspective suggests to this reporter that something needs to be said about the peculiar grammar of Middle Eastern politics. The grammar is so specialized, in fact, that the vast majority of Westerners must continually misread the vital story of this troubled region. For example, it is perfectly true that the dominant themes are the longing of the Arabs to free themselves of foreign influence, and the impulse of the Arabs to join in a broad national union. This longing and this impulse have destroyed almost all of the neo-colonial structure of British power in that area.

They have given his great strength to Gamal Abdel Nasser. They have made the Syrian-Egyptian union and they have brought down the monarchy in Iraq.

But the picture of the Arabs as a "nation struggling to be free" is altogether too simple. It does not convey any of the practical and sometimes ugly realities of the process.

Relatively Passive

For the active participants in the struggle are not all the inhabitants, or even a modest majority of the inhabitants of any Arab country. The active participants are only "the army and the street"—a phrase always in the mouths of all practical Arab politicians.

In other words, the peasants of the countryside, the people of the villages and small towns and lesser cities even, are relatively passive spectators of the struggle. The desert tribes, too, have ceased to count except in Jordan and Saudi Arabia, and even in Jordan, the tribesmen only count because they dominate the army.

In general, governments are made and unmade, kept in power or destroyed, by an interplay between the soldiers in uniform and the teeming populations of the capital cities—"the street."

Furthermore, even in the army and even in the street, the officers count for almost everything and the troops for almost nothing.

The officers cannot run absolutely counter to the sentiment of the troops. That was the lesson of the 1957 plot in Jordan, when Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar and his military co-conspirators were defeated by the Bedouin loyalty to King Hussein of the Arab Legion rank and file. But without the officers to give the orders, the troops will not move, even in a direction that commands their enthusiasm.

It may seem strange to speak of the street having officers and troops, in the manner of an army. Yet it is not inaccurate to do so, since the crowds in the Middle Eastern capital cities must also be organized before they move.

Gamal Abdel Nasser, with his Cairo radio, his new slogans, and his wide net of adherents in all the Arab lands, was the first and most successful organizer of the street. Therein, in fact, lay his first great strength.

But both in Baghdad and in Nasser's own northern capital of Damascus, the pro-Nasser street organizations are now in open competition with the street organizations of the Communists. In Baghdad, something very like a gang war went on until recently between the faction favoring union now with Egypt and the faction of the Communists who hope to dominate an independent Iraq.

In the outcome, the Communist gangsters triumphed, and the Nasser enthusiasts have given up the struggle for the time being.

Two Rules

Yet this Communist victory in the war for control of the street in Baghdad by no means ensures a final Communist victory in Iraq. For the two rules of Arab politics are, first, that the army and the street cannot be resisted when they are together. But, second, the street is always defeated by the army when the two are in conflict.

The second rule explains King Hussein's persistent survival in Jordan, where the street is against the monarchy. The second rule also explains why Brig. Abdel Karim Kassem may yet be master in his own house, instead of being transformed into the Kremlin's new version of the late Nuri Pasha. For Kassem has the army and the police at his disposal and if he chooses to use these assets, and if he acts in time, the street-victory of the Communists will not keep them in power.

The two rules above-cited also explain why modern Arab political processes are so violent and so devious. Conspiracies among army officers, and the organized movements in inflamed mobs, are in fact the two devices by which great new decisions are reached. But there is only one worse mistake than refusing to face this repellent reality. This is the mistake of forgetting that the pattern of Arab politics is quite largely determined by the prevailing level of life, and ignoring the genuine impulse to be free and united that inspires so many of the conspirators and so many in the mobs.

"WHAT are you doing sitting here in the dark?" said the nurse, flicking on the lights in Mrs. Brown's room. "We mustn't be mopey, you know. That's not good for us. Not good for us at all."

"It was such a wonderful sunset," Mrs. Brown said. "So unexpected, somehow, after the misty, moisty December morning."

"I've brought your laxative," the nurse said brightly. "Those bowels of yours need a little help, you know. Drink it down, there's a good girl. We mustn't miss our cocktail, must we? That would never do."

Good Lord, give me patience, Mrs. Brown thought, and looked out the window to where the delicate crescent of a bright, new moon lay on its back in the western sky.

"Dreary old night," said the nurse, letting down the blind with quick determination. "We'll shut it out and get rid of it."

"The night will never stay," Mrs. Brown murmured absently. "The night will slip away like sorrow or a tune."

But the nurse was going. "I'll be back in a minute," she said, peeking back round the door. "Got a patient on the pan down the hall. To tell you the truth, I'd quite forgotten her."

"Good Lord," said Mrs. Brown, and laughed as she hadn't laughed for days. "To each his own. But this is no place for me." Then, unbidden, there crept into her mind a prayer which her brother had quoted in his Christmas letter. "Give me the strength to bear with serenity those things that cannot be changed; give me the courage to change those things which can and should be changed; and give me the wisdom to distinguish one from the other."

Prayer and poetry, she reflected. Even if her limbs had partly lost their power, at least she had retained her memory and her sense of humor. That, at any rate, was something to be thankful for.

Deliberately, she let her mind run in pleasant channels. Sitting there, in her chair beside the blinded window, she thought of childhood times, and remembered noble words nobly spoken.

"That was grandmother," she said to herself. "What a queer, quiet little person she was. Often, when she talked, she was quoting poetry. But I never realized it. I simply thought that she was talking beautifully."

Then, still in her chair, and wishing that her poor right hand had the power to raise the blind, she repeated the Elisabeth Coatsworth poem she'd pinned up by her bedside on the day before she had had the little stroke:

"What is once loved
You will find
Is always yours
From that day.
Take it home
In your mind
Can take it away."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Churchill Seeks Home

LONDON—One of England's most highly paid authors—his earnings from his books since the war have put him well beyond being a dollar millionaire—is seeking a house in sun-drenched Marrakesh, southern Morocco. He has been on holiday there before and liked it so well that he has decided that's where he would like to have a home.

But this time there will be no accusations of skipping from England to avoid the taxman, as with Noel Coward and other British writers. Name of the author concerned: Sir Winston Churchill.

Another author (this one not a statesman as well) also in the news—Evelyn Waugh. If you're a fan of his and would like to know how and why he writes you can get hold of a book just published, "Evelyn Waugh: Portrait of an Artist," by Frederick J. Stopp. Conclusion reached there: he'd have been a much better novelist if he hadn't been so intent on being a gentleman.

Something to add to your store of relatively useless information... What's the life of a hot-water bottle? Three years, according to a judgment given in the appeal court against a manufacturer, one of whose products burst after three months.

Black mark awarded to Canada by the Sunday Express: "The Spanish ambassador, finding himself named as co-respondent in a matrimonial case, resigns his post to contest the case rather than claim diplomatic immunity to which he is entitled. But a member of the Canadian Commissioner's London staff pleads diplomatic immunity to escape trial on a careless driving charge. Good for Spain. But so sad for Canada."

Ingrid Bergman being praised to the skies for her latest movie, "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness," with the late Robert Donat. She plays a missionary in what looks very much like China but is actually North Wales.

And things I didn't know before: it is illegal to tip taxi-drivers in this country. The law says they must not accept more than is on the meter. But try abiding by the letter of the law!

In recent years Britain's most talked about cartoonist was Giles, who took over from where David Low left off. But now, since he has slipped so badly, the daily comment isn't "have you seen the latest Giles?" It's "Andy Capp" everyone is talking about. A collection of cartoons featuring this lazy, race-going, pub-frequenting character has just been brought out in book form and selling like hot cakes.

'Hands-Off' UN Session Ends With New Crisis

By LLOYD McDONALD

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The 1958 United Nations General Assembly, which opened amid two international crises, has closed under the shadow of a new one after three months of meetings which failed to produce a single East-West agreement on a major political issue.

Significantly, the 13th assembly of the UN took no direct action on any of the three crises—the Middle East, Quemoy and Berlin.

Most delegations worked quietly to keep the assembly from becoming a stage for inflammatory debate which might have had the effect of increasing tension to the breaking point.

The result was a hands-off attitude throughout on these three major trouble spots.

Quemoy and the Middle East, which threatened global outbreaks during the late summer, have smoldered on but have notably diminished as a direct peace threat. Most diplomats hope that in the coming weeks something will happen to bring about the same effect on the encircled former German capital.

The assembly worked until midnight Saturday night to wind up its business for the year, but scheduled another meeting opening Feb. 20 on the question of the independence of the UN's African trust territories of Nigeria, Italian Somaliland, French Togoland and the British and French Cameroons. The February session will discuss the admission to UN membership of these latter two.

The French refused to participate in debate Saturday night on a motion led by the Asian-African group to have the UN recognize the Algerian people's right to independence and call on France to bring an end to the four-year war between French troops and armed nationalist elements.

VOTE CLOSE

The assembly's vote on the motion was close—just one short of the required two-

Chinese To Comprise Half World

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Gordon Shrum of the University of British Columbia physics department says that in less than 25 years, China will provide a greater challenge to North America's economic leadership than any country in the world.

The prominent professor told a joint meeting of the Seattle and Vancouver branches of the Controllers Institute of America last night that one-half the population of the world will be Chinese by the end of the century.

"It's a great tragedy for Western democracy that we can't recognize such a virile people who are showing such promise in their country," he said.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

That Winter Storage Problem

Winter storage of plants in their pots can be a problem to some of the newer gardeners.

This week, while there is still freedom from the last week excitement of Christmas home preparations, time should be allotted for the checking of these plants.

Fuchsias and hydrangeas will have dropped all their leaves, and will be quite safe even though in a dark place. It should be cool to prevent premature growth. The soil in the pots must not be dry. Old plants of geraniums brought in and potted will still have leaves in good condition. Keeping them in a light, cool place with water every 10 days will prevent them growing too much until spring.

Tuberous-rooted plants such as gloxinias, begonias (the tuberous types), gesnera and achimenes (cupid's bower) may be stored in quite dry soil in a temperature between 50 and 60 de. F. The fact that they are practically covered by the soil will prevent the storage tuber from drying out more than is good for it.

The same applies to the truly bulbous plants like crinum and hippeastrum.

LITTLE WATER
Fibrous-rooted plants which die down during their winter rest period, losing all or most of their leaves, require somewhat different treatment. For instance, streptocarpus, the cape-primrose, likes to have a little water about once a week and needs to be kept in a warmer place than the previously mentioned plants. Fibrous roots are not storage houses as are tubers or bulbs. Fleshy-rooted plants such as clivia (sometimes commonly called Kafir-lily, although this name is also applied to the schizostylis, a quite different plant which is hardy, outdoors) should have their leaves kept green, but will need water only about once in three weeks.

If you had your plants given you and cannot readily see what type of roots they have, the best advice I can give is to tap each plant out of its pot, and find out. Seeing is knowing.

More Inflation Seen Inevitable

By HAL MALONE
(Times Business Editor)

Canada will suffer the pangs of inflation even more in 1959 than it has this year.

No matter how much hope business executives have for increased prosperity next year, government commitments are so immense, greater inflation must ensue.

That's the view of Professor Leslie G. Wong, of University of B.C.'s commerce and business faculty.

He told the Victoria chapter, Certified General Accountants' Association and Victoria branch, Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, that there is little hope for a return of "tight money" policies.

One of the reasons for his belief is the influx of U.S. capital into Canadian industry.

"The government can control spending by tightening credit of Canadian firms," he said. "But U.S. companies can pour dollars into Canada and in effect destroy government credit-curbing moves."

Prof. Wong saw increased government spending as one of the main factors toward greater inflation.

"In 1958 we saw senior and junior governments having more difficulty in raising money for projects. Federal financing reached an astronomical figure."

"Borrowed money means more money in circulation because if you borrow you have a commitment to spend. Savings often means money is idle."

"Where can the government reduce its spending? It can't cut its defence budget. It is committed to increase old age pensions—they can't be reduced."

Worse still from Canada's viewpoint, he said, is the inflationary situation in the U.S.

THREAT FROM U.S.

"Unless President Eisenhower can perform a miracle, U.S. inflation will grow because of the Democrats' heavy spending. Any growth in U.S. inflation will be reflected in Canada."

Speaking on security analysis, Prof. Wong said psychological factors which affect the stock market adversely should not always be regarded as being as serious as they seem.

He referred to a $40 billion drop in the market the last time President Eisenhower took ill.

"The intrinsic value of the stocks wasn't affected by the president's illness," he said.

"The question stockholders should have asked themselves is: is a heart attack worth $40 billion? To me, it isn't. When stocks drop severely because of a situation like that it's time for me to buy stocks."

SALES KEY FACTOR

Investment dealers have a greater responsibility to offer more information for investors to study intelligently, he said. Many large companies fail to disclose sales figures—the key to security evaluation. This means, he said, that security analysis can only be done by superficial appearances.

He urged dealers to con-trate on intrinsic values and not inflated values.

"To determine intrinsic values, multiply the number of shares available by their value and ask yourself if the company is worth it."

Security evaluation by means of charting stock growth in correlation with the gross national production, corporate sales, building and borrowing is helpful to the investor. But, he pointed, even chartists are prone to the psychological factors which affect stock appreciation or depreciation.

U.S. CLAIMS FASTEST JET AIRLINER

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The Convair division of General Dynamics Corp. today unveiled what it called the world's fastest jet airliner—the Convair 440. It said the plane could cross the continent in 4½ hours.

The sleek, gold-striped, swept-winged, four-engine craft was wheeled out of its production line hangar before a group of several hundred airline officials from throughout the and San Diego's civic and business leaders.

J. V. Naish, president of Convair, said the medium range transport, which will cruise at 615 miles per hour, will have a first line service life of more than 20 years.

He said in a prepared address to the visiting dignitaries that the 440 could offer coach accommodations for 110 passengers and could seat 88 passengers flying first class.

FOREIGN CAPITAL FLOW DOWN

Canada Trade Deficit Cut

OTTAWA (CP)—The flow of foreign capital into this country declined in the first nine months of 1958 as Canada reduced its world trade deficit in goods and services. The capital flow financing the deficit—excess of imports over exports—dropped to $795,000,000 in the January-September period, down $355,000,000 from the similar period last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

New investment in foreign-controlled companies operating in Canada dropped to $285,000,000, down $106,000,000 from a year ago.

Compared with a net drop of $52,900,000 last year, foreign holdings of Canadian dollars rose by $110,000,000 one of the largest increases in history.

The last time there was such a big rise was in 1950 when speculators bought up big holdings of the Canadian dollar gambling on a rise in its exchange value. The dollar later was set free.

Three-Sided Clobbering For Metro Plan

Two Victoria aldermen gave a flat "no" over the weekend to Saanich Reeve George Chatterton's proposal that Greater Victoria municipalities form a metropolitan government.

Mayor Percy Scurrell, Oak Bay Reeve-elect George Murdoch and Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele added cautious comments indicating they would not support the suggestion.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay accused Reeve Chatterton of a "woeful lack of leadership" over amalgamation.

What About His Precious Autonomy?

"With this metro plan, three of the municipalities can force their desires on another one. So what happens to this autonomy Reeve Chatterton puts such a high value on?" said Ald. Ramsay.

Ald. A. I. Curtis also blasted the suggestion.

"As far as I'm concerned, I will not support an investigation of 'metro' for Victoria and Saanich," he said.

"If Saanich is interested in metro, they can carry out their own study and if and when their voters have supported the idea Victoria can then give it consideration.

"I think we should bear in mind the statement of Dr. Deutsch to the effect that metro would not be helpful to this area and would only super-impose another level of government on us."

TO UBCM

Reeve Chatterton said he would take his suggestion to the next convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities because that organization would have to study it in any event before special legislation for Greater Victoria could be requested from the provincial government.

Reeve Chatterton said a metro government would be elected as a separate Greater Victoria council with control over essential services crossing municipal boundaries.

He denied it would create a "super-mayor" or reduce the autonomy of the four existing councils.

But Mayor Scurrell pointed out that the four municipal governments now include 30

7TH FLEET WITHDRAWS FROM FORMOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (Reuters) —The U.S. Seventh Fleet, concentrated in the Formosa area during the crisis over the Quemoy offshore islands, now is redeploying in the Western Pacific.

Vice-Admiral Frederick N. Kivette, commander of the fleet, told a press conference today the fleet no longer needs to be concentrated so closely because the situation is "much less tense" and the Nationalists are better able to deal with it themselves.

However, the admiral added, "this does not mean a reduction of strength in the 7th Fleet. The 7th Fleet still has the same strength and the same force."

CITY OLD-TIMERS FETED BY CENTENNIAL GROUP

Greater Victoria Centennial Committee Saturday hosted about 200 pioneers and centennial medalists at a Christmas dinner party in Holyrood House.

Committee chairman Geoffrey Edgelow welcomed guests and greetings from the B.C. Centennial Committee were expressed by the chairman, L. J. Wallace.

Entertainment was provided by singers John Dunbar, Eleanor Duff and James Fraser, with Grace Timp as accompanist.

Police Probe Arson As Church Damaged

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — A 10-foot section of the Columbia St. United Church in east-end Vancouver was charred Saturday night in what police said was a deliberate attempt to burn it down.

Police said the fire was started by rags soaked in an inflammable liquid.

Henry Koller, a passerby, kept the fire from spreading by spraying it with water from his neighboring home. Firemen put it out.

Police and fire wardens were investigating the blaze.

Loot Blown Up

VANCOUVER (CP) — Thieves blew up a safe containing about $15,000 here Sunday, destroying much of the loot in the detonation.

The ceiling, walls and furniture in the office of a downtown meat market were heavily damaged and pieces of the strongbox were driven through the floor.

Police found parts of scorched hills throughout the store.

Mail Stolen

VANCOUVER — Alfred Wish, a part-time post office worker, pleaded guilty here Saturday to charges of theft from the mails and retaining goods stolen from the mails. He was

London Times Wins Papers' Design Award

LONDON (CP) — The Times of London won first place among daily and Sunday newspapers in the Fifth Annual Award for Newspaper Design. Second place went to The Scotsman of Edinburgh, owned by Roy H. Thomson. The Scotsman won a high commendation a year ago.

Malcolm Muggeridge, former editor of Punch and one of the three judges, said giving first prize to The Times was like giving Sir Winston Churchill a prize for oratory but it was the judges' inescapable duty.

Of The Scotsman, the judges said its front page had "a harmonious consistency achieved without loss of variety."

remanded to Friday for a pre-sentence report.

Wish told the court he struggled for a week to "make peace with God." He said conscience prompted him to wrap up a watch and bracelet to take it back to his supervisor.

"But I just could not take it back," he said. "I was so upset."

Wish returned to work and postal investigators testified they saw him rip open parcels and explore their contents.

$2.2M Dam Bid

VANCOUVER — A joint bid by Pacific Bridge Co. of British Columbia Ltd. and General Construction Co. Ltd. to build the Seymour Falls dam on the city's north shore, was accepted by the Greater Vancouver Water District Board Friday.

The two firms submitted a bid of $2,213,855 to construct the dam, which will divert the flow of the Seymour River. The bid was the lowest of 14 tenders.

Teachers' Raise

KELOWNA — A majority report of an arbitration board today awarded 202 teachers in this district a 3 per cent wage increase effective January 1, 1959.

The wage boost will cost taxpayers in this area $25,000.

Teachers had been asking for a 10.8 per cent wage boost and other fringe benefits which False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!

Soak your plates in Polident daily to avoid "Denture Breath"

Polident is the specially designed cleanser that keeps false teeth — and breath — clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules:

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.

2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."

3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only... Polident! Polident is the denture cleanser recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter. D-27 would have amounted to about $120,000.

Medal for Dog

VANCOUVER — A German shepherd dog that helped save the lives of two city boys was awarded a silver medal for bravery Sunday.

Rex helped his master, Darryl Acker, 11, and Gregory Graham, 9, when they fell into the Fraser River, November 28.

The dog jumped into the water and supported the pair until help arrived. The medal was presented by the SPCA.

Fall Kills Woman

VANCOUVER — Mrs. William Pankiw, 60, died in hospital Sunday of head injuries after she fell down the stairs in her home.

BETRAYAL of his Democratic party has been charged against Arkansas Governor Orval Faubus. Little Rock publisher John F. Wells is pressing for probe into defeat of Rep. Brook Hays by segregationist in federal election. Wells says Faubus campaigned against Hays.

FINAL CHECK GIVES WIN TO WOMAN

SAANICHTON — Recount of votes for the third council seat in the Central Saanich municipal election showed Mrs. G. E. Ronson retained her original vote of 202 votes to hold the seat, municipal clerk D. S. Wood said today.

A recount was demanded when voters Thursday gave Mrs. Ronson 202, G. W. Mollard 201, and Charles Harris 199. It had been reported that Mr. Mollard had won the seat, but the final check upheld the original count, Mr. Wood said.

Elected in first and second place were Coun. Frank Grimshaw and R. Gordon Lee.

Avalanche Buries 8

MATSUMOTO, Japan (AP) — An avalanche in the mountains of central Japan buried eight members of the Keio University alpine club Sunday. Five got out but one of them died later. The other three are missing, presumed dead.

Father Quizzed In Murders

Teenage Killer Story Checked

EL CAJON, Calif. (AP)—A man who has blamed a transient teen-ager for the slaying of his wife and four children was himself the subject of extensive police questioning Sunday.

Examination of Thomas J. Pendergast, 39, included two lie detector tests ordered by Police Chief Joe O'Connor.

O'Connor said that in view of the nature of the crime he felt the tests were justified. He declined to discuss the tests, conducted during seven hours of questioning of Pendergast, other than to say: "His story is consistent. But we feel we've made progress by the polygraphic lie detector examinations."

Investigators said Pendergast was asked specifically for more details about his connection with Carl Eder, the missing teen-ager Pendergast has said he befriended in the hope of saving him from a life of crime.

FIVE SLAIN

Eder, 16, known to the Pendergast family as Charles Harrison, has been charged with murdering Mrs. Lois Pendergast, 37, and her children, David, 9; Thomas, 6; Diane, 4, and Allen, 2. The bodies were found in the family home here Friday night.

The mother had been shot twice and the children's throats had been cut. The youngsters were otherwise slashed and the skulls of two of them were fractured.

Pendergast fingered a small Bible as he talked with reporters after the police questioning. He was returned to the county hospital psychiatric ward after the questioning. He had been held there because of his distraught condition.

Two Days Extra Grace To Pay Fines

Traffic and parking offenders paying fines out of court may get up to two days extra grace over Christmas and New Year's holidays.

Deputy Chief Harry Mercer outlined holiday traffic office hours Friday, including a couple of changes this year.

There will be early closing—at 5 p.m.—on both Christmas and New Year's Eves, and in addition to being closed Christmas Day, Boxing Day and New Year's Day, the office will also be closed Jan. 2.

Both the following Saturdays—Dec. 27 and Jan. 3—the traffic office will open as usual.

Pat's Kick Did It

Giants Triumph To Force Playoff With Cleveland

NEW YORK (AP) — Pat Summerall, a pink-cheeked, good-natured pro football player for the New York Giants, managed to jump from goat to team hero in the space of six weeks.

His special skill kicking could mean several thousand dollars to each of his National Football League teammates.

Sunday, in snow-dusted Yankee Stadium, Summerall kicked a 49-yard field goal with two minutes, seven seconds left that beat Cleveland Browns 13-10. It means the same two teams meet in a playoff for the eastern title next Sunday, the winner to play the western champion Baltimore Colts in the league's rich title playoff Dec. 28.

In six weeks, beginning with the Giants' 24-21 upset of previously unbeaten Baltimore, Nov. 9, Summerall has kicked nine field goals in 13 attempts.

BAD START

Before that, he's managed only three in 10 attempts. He'd blown two conversions.

His poor start helps explain why tears rolled down the cheeks of this 6-foot-4, 230-pound, 28-year-old veteran of seven pro seasons as his teammates crowded around to congratulate him after Sunday's game-winning kick.

The other part of it was that Summerall, only two minutes before, had missed a relatively easy attempt from the 33.

"When I blew it," Summerall said, "I'd have liked to have gone anywhere but back to that bench. But you know, four or five of the guys came right up and told me to forget it, that they'd get me another chance."

"I never thought I'd get to try again," he said. "It's wonderful!"

All other clubs wound up league play Sunday.

Baltimore did it on a sour note, losing 21-12 to San Francisco 49ers. Los Angeles Rams closed out with a 34-20 decision over Green Bay and Chicago Bears defeated Detroit Lions 21-16. Washington blanked Philadelphia 20-0. Pittsburgh, No. 3 in the east, finished Saturday with a 38-20 victory over Chicago Cardinals.

Tils, Gorge Best In Home Stretch

Stamina proved an important factor in Sunday's Victoria and District Football League matches.

Clubs in both scheduled encounters battled to 1-1 first-half deadlocks before Tilleums squeezed out a 3-2 win over Brodies Bakery at Beacon Hill and Gorge Hotel trimmed Butler Bros. 4-1, at Topaz Ave.

In Saturday's Jackson Cup semifinal, Victoria Kickers upset Canadian Scottish, current league leaders, by a 5-4 count before the largest crowd of the season at Royal Athletic Park.

Victory moved Kickers into next Saturday's final against Esquimalt.

TWO FOR ROBB

Centre-forward Cedric Robb proved the difference for Tilleums Sunday as he hammered home two second-half markers at 10 and 20 minutes, before Willie Hamilton booted a penalty kick for the bakers.

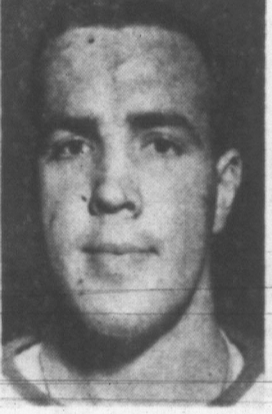

Rocket Grounded After Explosion

VERDICT DELAYED

City Booters Still Waiting

Members of the Pacific Coast Soccer League have changed their top officials, but they still haven't been able to come up with a decision on Victoria's application for a league franchise.

After almost a month of waiting, backers of the proposed Victoria entry still don't know whether or not they will have a club in the summer loop.

During a meeting at Vancouver Sunday, the league again shelved franchise applications from Victoria and Nanaimo, a probationary team in the circuit last summer. Hungaria, also a probationary team last season, was admitted permanently.

DECISION IN JANUARY
Former vice-president Dave Fryatt said after the meeting that no decision on the Victoria and Nanaimo bids is expected until January.

Charlie Alcock, former half-back with St. Saviors, was elected president of the league, succeeding Frank Bain, and Fryatt's position on the executive was taken by Frank Craig. Jim Spencer was re-elected secretary and Charlie Kelly remained as treasurer.

Because of shortage of playing space in Vancouver and high costs of travelling, Fryatt said, it is unlikely that two Vancouver Island teams will be admitted.

TIME TO ORGANIZE
"The new league executive will go to both Victoria and Nanaimo early next month to talk with principals of both clubs," Fryatt said. "A decision could be expected after that. I don't see how we could work with more than one team on the island."

Delay in the decision is making problems for the Victoria and District Football League and president Eddie Viggers asked today, "How long can we wait?"

"The team has a sponsor and full co-operation of our league, but we must have time to organize if Victoria is to make a good showing," he said.

"With the Coast League starting early in May, our league would have to finish in the middle of April. Usually we carry on into May, but we would want to give the Victoria team ample time for preparation."

Veteran Centre Cut by Spokane
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Ramblers Sunday night announced the purchase of Frank Kubasek, veteran centre of the Spokane Flyers in Western Hockey League.

The purchase price wasn't revealed. Kubasek is expected to join the team Tuesday.

A window in the patrol wagon was broken, two policemen were cut by flying fragments of glass and another slugged in the face. Police sent out a riot call that sent 18 radio cars, 20 motorcycle officers, 18 inspectors and six additional patrol wagons to the scene.

But the police melee was over about 10 minutes after the call went out and only one man was arrested — for throwing an orange.

Many of the 58,334 fans booed before the game when former halfback Joe Arenas was not introduced with other "A" players. Arenas has been writing newspaper articles which at some times were critical of the team.

He was informed last week he no longer was welcome in the team's dressing room.

started when fiery Rocket exploded and opened eight-stitch cut on Ullman's head with stick. Other Montreal players paid more attention to hockey and chalked up 6-1 victory over Red Wings.

Russia Now First-Class Naval Power---Jane's

LONDON (CP)—An up surge in Soviet submarine activity in the Atlantic and off the eastern North American coast is reported by Jane's Fighting Ships.

The authoritative guide to the world's sea power says the reason is that the Russian fleet needs intensive training

Car Drops 100 Feet; 3 Feared Drowned

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP)—A speeding car ripped through a bridge's steel guard rail Sunday, soared an estimated 100 feet beyond and then dropped into the swift currents of Port Washington Narrows 90 feet below. Two youths were known killed and skin divers probed the water for the body of a possible third victim.

to catch up with United States naval power if it is to cut West Europe's lifelines to North America in event of war.

Jane's new edition is out today. It has been published annually for more than 60 years, listing all that is known of the world's navies. It gets assistance from most countries' naval departments—but not the Russian.

SECOND TO U.S.

The 1958-59 edition says Russia now is a first-class naval power—second only to the U.S.—with a submarine force of 500 "its most formidable defensive arm."

Jane's says there is evidence that Russian shipbuilding and marine engineering resources are being concentrated on nuclear-powered vessels, which involves the conversion of existing plants.

"In recent months it has become clear that the overall technological lead which the United States held over Russia is diminishing."

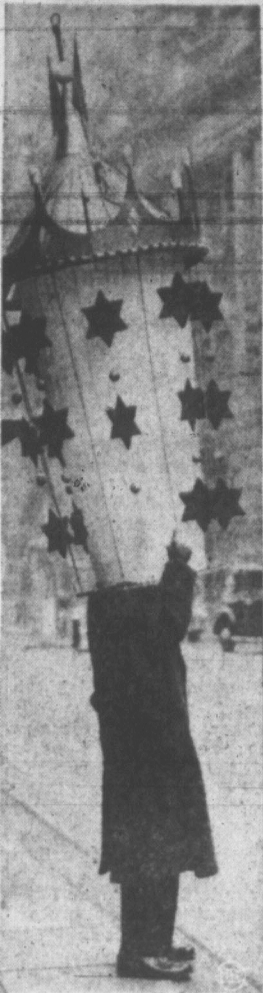

On the future use of submarines, Jane's says:

"With their increase in size, propulsive power and destructive power, submarines are coming to be regarded by the principal naval powers as the capital ships of the future."

Battleships were rapidly becoming extinct, with cruisers following them into obsolescence—except in the U.S. and U.S.S.R.—and there had been a great resurgence of specialized warships of the destroyer or frigate size.

Among nuclear powers there was "little reason to expect the aircraft carrier to disappear yet," but the carriers of the future probably would be limited to about half the size of the largest existing vessels.

Speaking of Britain's sea role, Jane's says aircraft carriers "will continue to be the core of the new streamlined Royal Navy."

Civil Service Raps Delay On Benefits

OTTAWA (CP)—Representatives of federal civil servants today sent a sharp letter to Prime Minister Diefenbaker and his cabinet ministers, asking for an early favorable decision on a proposed contributory group medical plan for government workers.

The letter, signed by H. A. Clarke, chairman of the staff side of the national joint council of Public Service of Canada, said it represents the views of 13 organizations of civil servants.

The joint national council is the only recognized body for government-employee negotiations on working conditions in the civil service.

The letter said the council, which also includes representatives of the official side, unanimously recommended a plan to Finance Minister Fleming Oct. 21, 1957, and followed it up with further representations in the 14 months since then.

It said the staff side is "unable to understand your failure to act on this unanimous recommendation or to indicate to the national joint council the reasons for delay."

Guinea to Join Commonwealth

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI)—Newly-independent Guinea will join the British Commonwealth soon after its union with Ghana becomes formally effective next year, diplomatic sources said today.

A joint Ghana-Guinea committee is already discussing details of the merger, but the date on which it will take effect has not yet been announced.

One informant said a similar committee on economics will be set up "as soon as Guinea is ready" to switch its now-French financial system to the sterling standard customary in the Commonwealth—a change which he said is expected shortly.

The British government has announced that it cannot "make an immediate show" of welcoming Guinea—a former French colony—to the Commonwealth, for fear of causing "some embarrassment" to France.

British officials circles in West Africa, however, made no attempt to conceal their satisfaction at the prospect of extending the Commonwealth in Africa.

They said additional strength for the Commonwealth on the "Dark Continent" may help to offset the loss of British customers in Europe expected as a result of the new "common market" setup there.

Some observers believe that most of Africa south of the Sahara Desert eventually may become associated with the Commonwealth, either politically or perhaps both.

'Fight to the Bitter End' Cyprus EOKA Pledge

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Greek-Cypriot terrorists, who broke their three-week

"truce" during the weekend, Sunday declared "a new phase in the battle of Cyprus will begin with the slogan 'we shall fight to the bitter end.'"

The declaration was made in leaflets which fluttered down during a church service in Nicosia from galleries usually occupied by women.

The leaflets said: "Down with the shameful Macmillan plan (Britain's seven-year partnership plan for Cyprus). Governor Foot, you will have to tread on many corpses if you insist on implementing your beastly plan. Big the majority of the corpses will be on your own side."

The leaflets, signed simply "EOKA"—the terrorists underground—coincided with a renewal of violence which broke EOKA's provisional "truce", called to provide a calm atmosphere for the recent United Nations Cyprus discussions.

Terrorists tried to bomb a military vehicle, a Greek-Cypriot was murdered, an army truck was fired on, and troops had to use tear gas to quell stone-throwing women and children as the violence which has plagued the island intermittently for 3½ years returned.

Greek-Cypriots refuse to participate in Britain's "partnership plan" which went into operation Oct. 1 with Turkish Cypriot approval.

How you can provide LIFE INSURANCE WITH SAVINGS FOR EACH MEMBER OF YOUR FAMILY through a "program of security" tailored specifically to your needs by a London Life representative

LIFE INSURANCE FOR THE FATHER

Adequate insurance on the life of the father is of first importance—to provide money for his wife and children to live on, if his life should be cut short. At the same time, with proper selection of plans, this "protective" insurance can provide savings. Provision can also be made for income in case of total disability.

LIFE INSURANCE FOR THE MOTHER

Whether or not she earns money to contribute to the upkeep of the home, she needs life insurance of her own, to give the children further protection, and to make possible additional savings for the future.

LIFE INSURANCE FOR THE CHILDREN

Insurance obtained at an early age brings the advantage of low premiums—and it can also mean an early start on long-term savings plans.

London Life men are trained to help you select the plans which will best meet the needs of the individual members of the family. Moreover, it is part of their job to keep your program adapted to changes in your situation . . . Today is a good day to talk to a London Life representative.

GOLD MINERS ASK ROAD TO PRIVATEER PLANT

ZEBALLOS — Owners of small gold mines here will try to interest the government in building three miles of road to connect their mines with the Privateer company mill.

The mill was closed down because the company, largest in the area, did not have enough ore to keep it operating at capacity. It is felt that if the mill took on custom work, there would be enough ore available to make it a success.

A gift that will keep your home smiling this Christmas...

Quick Start On Two Sooke Schools

LANGFORD — Work will begin "almost immediately" on a new junior high school and an elementary school, as authorized by passage Saturday of a Sooke School District 62 building bylaw of $209,000.

"There is a 30-day waiting period to be observed," a school board official said today. "We will start as soon as it is over."

Only 584 valid ballots were cast in the voting, although there are 4,723 eligible voters in the district. There were 399 "yes" votes, well above the minimum of 350 votes, or 60 per cent, required for passage.

BUS PLAN OUT

A plebiscite on extension of the bus system, with all costs of the extensions to fall on the ratepayers, won only 302 affirmative votes and was rejected.

Main project to go ahead under the bylaw will be a nucleus for a junior high school. Property has been secured beside the present Belmont Junior-Senior High School on Jacklin Road.

Also, slated to go ahead is a three-room elementary school in the Millstream area.

Window Smashing Spree Hits Five Downtown Stores

City police investigated a flurry of five shop window smashings in downtown Victoria early Saturday.

At 12:15 a patrol constable reported two windows were smashed at Palmer's Store, 571 Johnson; another at Moore Printing Co., 565 Johnson, and another at Jeanne Bros. of Victoria Ltd., 570 Johnson.

At 12:45 a.m. police were told Roderick Woods, 19, of 512 Francis, was taken to Jubilee Hospital with a cut foot, and a sergeant interviewed the youth.

He told police his foot was cut when he stepped on a beer bottle.

At 12:50 Mrs. J. E. Smith, of Victoria Beauty Supply, 747 View, told police four boys smashed a door window, then ran off.

UNANIMOUS VERDICT

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—World featherweight champion Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria survived a knockdown in the fifth round and went on to win a 10-round unanimous decision over Ernesto Parra of Mexico in a non-title fight Saturday night.

Here's a perfect little Christmas gift for the many people who perform those welcome little services for you during the year. You spend so little, yet the gift means so much. Win smiles of appreciation by giving packages or boxes of delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum.

NOTE: Wrigley's Spearmint Gum comes in bright Christmas colors—red and green on white.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions by letter to answer will receive valuable prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 26-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Karen Strong, aged 11, Omaha, Neb., for her question:

Who Was Linnaeus?

The world of science knows him as Carolus Linnaeus, which is the Latinized form of his name. This seems only fair, since he was the one who worked out our system for giving Latin or Latinized names to each plant and animal. He was born Carl Von Linne in the year 1707. His father was a Swedish clergyman.

Young Carl was always curious about the plants and flowers which grew around him. Even as a boy he studied and made notes about them. As a student, he was asked to help a professor prepare a nature book. Now he not only read every book he could find on the subject, but the young student was not satisfied with what he read.

At this time, almost 250 years ago, the nature books listed each plant as a separate item. There was no attempt to sort them into groups. Carl Von Linne wanted a system for classifying the plant world. He noticed the stamens and pistils were different in different flowers. At first he thought he could use these differences to classify the plant world. But, of course, not all plants have flowers with stamens and pistils.

The young student graduated and became a lecturer in botany. He was sent to Lapland to study the flowers there. Meantime, a workable system was taking shape in his mind. It was suitable for classifying the entire plant world and also the animal world.

Special Names Link Families

He made notes and more notes. The notes grew into a manuscript which he called System of Nature. This book set forth the binomial, or two-name, system which the world of science still uses to name and classify the world of nature. These scientific names are Latin or Latinized words. This enables scientists of all countries to understand them. French, English, Dutch, Italian and German scientists may not understand each others' languages. But all of them understand Latin.

Carl Von Linne classified the plants and animals in groups. The members of a group may or may not be related by family ties. But they must have a number of very definite family resemblances. Such a group is called a genus. The genus name is the first of the two scientific names given to a plant or animal. It is spelled with a capital letter and properly printed in italics.

The genus name for all oak trees is Quercus, the Latin word for oak tree. But there are different oak trees—the red oak, the white oak, the pin oak and several others. The second word of the scientific name tells which oak tree. It is the species name, which tells which member of the genus a particular oak tree is. The species name follows the genus name, also in italics but with no capital letter. The red oak is Quercus rubra, the white oak is Quercus alba.

It was the fashion 250 years ago for a scientist to sign his work with a Latinized version of his name. The book setting forth the binomial system, plus 180 other books and papers, was signed Carolus Linnaeus and it was by this name the young Carl Von Linne became famous in the world of science.

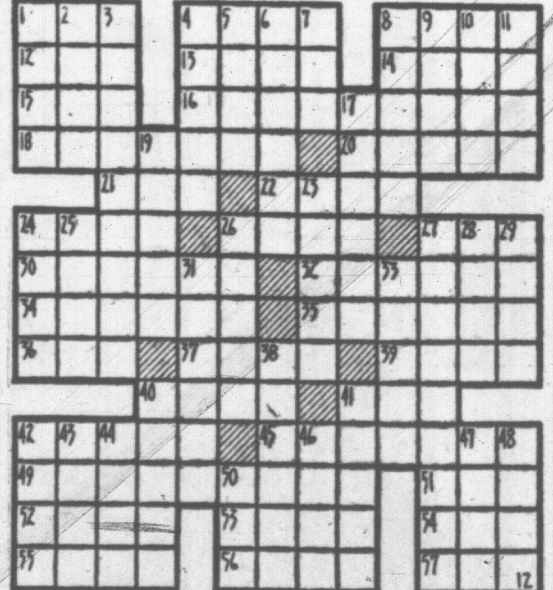

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Billy May, age 13, of Houston, Texas, for his question:

Where Does Mercury Come From?

In its pure form, mercury is very rare in nature. We get it by extracting it from a bright-red ore called cinnabar. The largest such mine is in Almaden, Spain, southwest of Madrid. This is also one of the world's oldest mines of any kind, dating back to 800 B.C. Italy and Yugoslavia also produce quantities of mercury from their cinnabar mines.

The United States produces less than half the mercury it uses. Cinnabar ore is mined in California, Nevada, Oregon, Texas, Arkansas, Arizona, Utah, Washington and Alaska. Even so, half of the mercury the country needs must be imported.

Heat is used to extract the mercury from its cinnabar ore. The mercury boils at 675 degrees Fahrenheit and rises as a vapor. The vapor is captured and condensed into the runny, silvery metal we call mercury or quicksilver.

TV's 'Kingfish' Tim More, Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Harry R. Tim Moore, 70, the Kingfish of the Amos 'n' Andy television series, died here Saturday after a lengthy illness.

He had been in critical condition since Nov. 4 with advanced pulmonary tuberculosis.

Moore's wife, Vivian, had been an almost constant companion at his bedside. They were married last year; eight months after the death of Moore's first wife.

SHOW RETURNS

Moore made the last television film for the Amos 'n' Andy series in 1953. But returns of the 79-film series are still being shown in scores of cities.

"The series really wasn't dated," said Freeman Gosden, who played both Amos and the Kingfish in the original radio series.

"His voice will carry on. His comedy will carry on for years after he's gone."

Moore came out of retirement when Gosden and Charles Correll decided to change their radio show into a television series.

Moore was 58 then and had been in show business for 46 years. He played in Blackbirds of '28 on Broadway, travelled with the show in Europe, and returned to the United States in the late '30s to tour as part of a comedy act appearing with big-name bands.

CAME BACK

The chance to play Kingfish called Moore away from retirement. He often said he wanted to retire again and go back to his fishing, but he never did. In recent months, before illness felled him, he was a master of ceremonies at a Los Angeles strip-tease house.

Particularly well chosen for the Christmas season, though not obviously so, music of this weekend's Victoria Symphony Orchestra pair of concerts has a distinctly dual appeal.

While the spirit is stirred by the nobility of Beethoven's "Eroica" Symphony and the visionary beauty of Vaughan-Williams' Five Mystical Songs, the seasonal mood for merry-making is reflected in the unexpected charm of the waltz motif in Dvorak's Scherzo Capriccioso.

The twin emotions of joyousness and devotion, cleverly entwined in Corelli's "Christmas" Concerto, gave conductor and orchestra scope for some of the lucid and shapely phrase-making. Violin, flute and other solo passages were impressive.

With Clifford Evens leaving his concert master's desk for the podium, the orchestra gave a generally confident, at moments brilliant, and often sensitive performance. The Vaughan-Williams song cycle was particularly notable in this latter respect.

HARD PASSAGES

And if there were some instances of doubtful tonality and a bit of raggedness on one or two occasions, these were flaws of minor consequence when one contemplated some fiendishly difficult passages played with breath-taking skill—specifically in the Dvorak and the finale of the "Eroica."

The Dvorak, incidentally, so melodically lovely and orchestrally colorful, would bear an early repetition.

Guest artist, Canadian baritone James Milligan, provided his audience with the happy experience of hearing a great voice used with intelligence, taste and technical competence of a high order.

RICH, SILKEN

This very tall and personable young artist who has already appeared on some of the most august concert and operatic stages of the world, sings effortlessly, using a voice that is as rich and silken as velvet.

It is a warm, flexible instrument under remarkable dynamic control at all times. The Vaughan-Williams cycle ranged from the deeply reflective to a mood of high exaltation and Milligan had the vocal color and temper to give clear expression to each mood.

Picture Traps Hunted Fugitive

Weekend Magazine Scores Again With 'Most Wanted Man' List

From Times News Services

SYDNEY, N.S.—Ronald Tousignant, 40, of Quebec, one of Canada's five most-wanted criminals, was captured here Saturday by police following up a tip from a reader of Weekend Magazine which printed his picture. He was en route today to St. Hyacinthe, Que., under guard.

... captured

Tousignant offered no resistance to police when they raided the north-end home where he was staying. Police said Tousignant admitted his identity. He had been working in Sydney as a painter.

The diminutive, bushy-haired fugitive is wanted in Quebec on two charges of attempting murder. Earlier this year, he was alleged to have almost killed a guard in escaping jail. It was not immediately known how long he had been here.

Police said the reader of Weekend Magazine, which appears with the Daily Times each Saturday, reported seeing a man answering Tousignant's description. The magazine carried the picture as part of a story on Canada's five most wanted men.

Tousignant escaped from the St. Hyacinthe, Que., jail while awaiting trial. During the escape, a guard was slugged over the head with an iron bar. The guard still is in hospital. Tousignant made good his break despite a widespread search by 50 Quebec provincial policemen, an airplane and 50 soldiers with walkie-talkies.

Police said that Tousignant had rode the rods to the Maritimes last spring and had been working as a crew member aboard a fishing boat. During his short fishing career, Tousignant, who used the name of Ronald Martin, survived a shipwreck in Hurricane Helene last October.

Tousignant's 18-year-old girl friend tearfully told police in Sydney that he had known him for about five months and was to have married him soon.

"He was so kind and gentle," she said. Tousignant boarded at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leblanc who said of Tousignant: "A nicer guy you wouldn't want to meet."

Tousignant is the fourth criminal that has been turned up by Weekend Magazine in three occasions it has printed the "most-wanted list."

In 1952 Walter Pavlukoff, wanted for murder in Vancouver, was arrested after his picture appeared. In 1956 Clifford Dawley, an escapee from Oakalla, and John Keith McDonald were captured following publication.

The apex of the dome of St. Paul's Cathedral in London, designed by Sir Christopher Wren, is 365 feet from the ground.

Astronomers Near Secret Of Universe

LONDON (Reuters) — A leading British astronomer Sunday night said scientists within a few years may be able to agree on the origin of the universe.

Dr. A. C. B. Lovell, director of the giant radio-telescope at Jodrell Bank, said "settlement of this cosmological issue might mean an affirmation or rejection of deeply embedded philosophical and theological beliefs."

Lovell said he has no doubt that within a few years radio-telescopes will enable scientists to resolve the conflict between two broad theories on the origin of the universe.

ONE IS ATOM THEORY

One is the evolutionary theory that the universe began as a super-dense primeval atom that exploded thousands of millions of years ago.

The other theory is that the matter always has been—and will be—in a continuous state of creation.

But Lovell said it would be "sheer impudence" to suggest that views of the cosmos, evolved from techniques developed in the present age, are in any way final.

"The optimism with which I believe that we are on the verge of producing the necessary observational data is tempered with a deep apprehension, born of bitter experience, that the decisive experiment, nearly always extends one's horizon into regions of new doubts and difficulties."

PFC PRESLEY
... "pied piper"

Reds Blast 'Cold War Weapon'

BERLIN (UPI)—East German communists attacked PFC Presley as a "cold war" weapon yesterday and said Soviet zone youth would not be trapped by the "modern pied piper" on Hamelin under a picture of the rock 'n' roll singer and a teen-age German girl he has been dating in Frankfurt.

The headline over the picture said "cold war weapon." The paper denied reports in the West Berlin press that Presley, now on manoeuvres with the U.S. 3rd Armored Division in West Germany, was popular among young people behind the iron curtain.

"The majority of the youth of the German democratic republic will not be trapped by the modern pied piper of Hamelin, and the few who still 'adore' him will certainly, on second thought, agree"—the paper said in the latest attack on the American singer.

Under the picture, a caption read: "Puffed up like a peacock, Presley, hooting like a shipwrecking buoy, is an advertisement for NATO in the west zone."

PHONED A-G AFTER MIDDLE OF NIGHT VISIT FROM RCMP

Mrs. Sommers Got Bonner Out of Bed

Former Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers revealed today his wife telephoned Attorney-General Robert Bonner in the middle of the night and complained to him of being disturbed by the RCMP.

Earlier, Sommers had accused an RCMP officer of pounding on his front door after 1 a.m. Wednesday to deliver papers concerning the crown's appeal against his sentence of five years' imprisonment for bribery and conspiracy.

Today Mr. Sommers said: "My wife was naturally very shaken and upset at being awakened in the middle of the night. She phoned Mr. Bonner soon after and complained."

"Mr. Bonner was very polite to her, but that didn't alter the fact we had been very roughly treated by an RCMP officer acting on his behalf."

An RCMP spokesman in Vancouver said the officer knocked only once and that Sommers answered the door fully dressed and smoking a cigarette.

He said there were lights on in the house.

Mr. Sommers' reply to this was a light was burning in the bathroom, which they always kept on at night for the sake of the children.

"It is true I was dressed when I answered the door. I got dressed before answering it."

Mr. Sommers also denied a quoting him as saying his constated that the reason Mr. Mainland newspaper story

"I never said any such thing," Mr. Sommers stated.

He denied granting the interview he said was mentioned in a Canadian Press account of the story, and he denied saying: "To think that for years I was beating my gums for these things and never dreamed that the way to get them was to go to jail."

Mr. Sommers added that the lengthy interview with him published in last Friday's issue of The Times was "entirely fair and accurate."

Mr. Sommers said the Crown's appeal was to get his sentence increased to 10 years. But this is denied by the attorney-general's department.

Sommers and Gray are both at liberty on bail pending their February appeals against conviction and sentence of five years imprisonment for bribery and conspiracy.

Mr. Sommers said the Crown's appeal was to get his sentence increased to 10 years. But this is denied by the attorney-general's department.

Cakes, hampers and trees are all getting into the Christmas act as the festive day draws near.

Miss Acason is staying here with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. James Hobson, 1970 Argyle. She was thrilled over her first view of 'real' Christmas tree.

MONTE ROBERTS

I see where the B.C. Penitentiary is going to establish a branch office at William Head.

Well, this is certainly a step in the right direction. The lower part of Vancouver Island has long been in need of more industries.

While the B.C. Penitentiary is starting out on a very small scale—apparently they can only spare 64 customers for the new branch—we can look forward to greater things in the future.

So far, all efforts to secure a first class, degree university for the Island have failed.

But now, at least, we are to have a first class, degree penitentiary.

And surely the one will follow the other. There is one thing which bothers me.

On what basis will the customers for the branch office be chosen?

Will there be preference granted to customers who are native to the Island, and are used to her mild climate, suburban sea air, and wondrous scenery?

In all honesty, I think it would be a shock to the nervous system of a customer raised on the murky mainland to be suddenly transported to the wonders of William Head.

And, on the other hand, for an Island resident to be moved to New Westminster is a fate far worse than death, and almost as bad as being moved to Vancouver.

I do hope the powers that be will, in considering probation reports before passing sentence, take into consideration the subject's length of residence on this Island.

I can see it all now; the loyal Melchiosin man, told by the judge he was going to serve 10 years at William Head, bursting into tears and crying: "Judge, judge, only 10 years? Can't you make it 15? Perhaps 20?"

Half-Price Program In Saanich

Saanich Reeve George Chatterton today announced he will press for adoption of two planning programs which could give the municipality needed developments for half price.

The reeve said he will propose that council adopt a five-year works plan and a 20-year general development plan.

He said $40,000,000 worth of needed services could be provided for $20,000,000 over the next 20 years if work is co-ordinated by careful planning.

To curb the rising tax rate, improve existing services and provide new services for the growing municipality, he will propose to council:

1. Establishment of an overall 20-year development program to "freeze" subdivision expansion and determine all future road construction, sewer and drainage projects, sidewalks and the location of shopping centres.

2. Adoption of a five-year plan to permit the engineering staff to prepare and plan services in advance, especially projects slated for the immediate future.

3. Establishment of a special fund for construction of a new municipal hall within five years.

ACT AS GUIDE

"The two programs will tell us where we are going and what money we will need," said the reeve. "It is true the programs won't be binding on future councils, but they will act as a guide and can be revised."

The reeve said the engineering department could save considerable expenditures if it knew in advance what it was going to do.

"As an example, he said, "it is of little use to pave a road and to dig it up again to lay down a water pipe."

He said the engineer was able to carry out this year's sidewalk construction program for half the estimated cost because he knew ahead where the sidewalks were going to go.

The reeve said he had no use for the "prophecy of gloom" who claimed Saanich was ruined because it did not vote for amalgamation.

HEAVY DEBTS

"We can develop a well-planned municipality for ourselves and our children if we plan carefully," he stated. "At the present time we do little planning ahead and face the possibility of running into heavy debts."

He warned that Saanich had a narrow tax base because of the lack of industrial and commercial development.

For this reason, he said, it was essential for the municipality to plan ahead.

SOME DRIVER ALMOST WALKED HOME over the weekend after taking to heart the "keep your city clean" message on this litter can at Douglas and Yates. By-stander R. H. Smith, 3024 Carroll Richardson by Lewis R. Keen, 2275 Harlow, at 4.20 p.m. Saturday.

4 Escape Injury When Car Rolls

Four people escaped injury when the car in which they rode overturned on to an auto court lawn at 5.20 a.m. Sunday on Gorge Road.

Towner Park Motel, 241 Gorge, reported the car on their lawn and police found it had skidded off the road, struck a curb, rolled and finally came to rest on the grass.

Driver was identified as Gordon E. Mason, 750 Pemberton. Marian Buchanan, 3½, of 458 Monterey, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with a broken leg, concussion and shock after she was in collision with a car driven in the 1600 block Richardson by Lewis R. Keen, 2275 Harlow, at 4.20 p.m. Saturday.

The hospital said she was in good condition today.

In an accident Friday at 5 p.m. on Trans-Canada Highway between Burnside and Admirals, an estimated $1,200 damage was caused by a blow-out when three cars cracked up.

Saanich police said the left front tire on a car driven by John R. Stovel, 1442 Camosun, blew out causing it to swerve across the highway and into a car driven by Arthur E. MacLean, 3181 Aldridge, then into one driven by Ernest Poole, 2780 Spencer.

Stovel's car then nosed into a ditch about six feet deep.

Police said there was heavy damage to the MacLean car, slight damage to the other two. No one was injured.

Roman V. Miele, 2829 Wyndevall, was treated for minor face cuts at St. Joseph's Hospital after his car was in a rear-end collision with an auto driven by John W. Parkes, 340 Irving, on Point Ellice bridge at 5.25 p.m. Friday. Damage was medium.

Stowaway On Ferry Fined $25

An eastern Canadian who stowed away on the Coast Steamship's Princess Joan in Vancouver Saturday night today was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty in city police court to a charge under the Canada Shipping Act.

Court was told Wallace Sheare, of no fixed address, mingled with crew members on the docks in Vancouver prior to departure of the vessel, helped them with some loading across the baggage ramp and "secreted himself" on board.

Shortly after the ship left its mooring an officer spotted the strange face among his crew and reported to the purser.

Sgt. H. W. Look of CPR police department, said in his 18 years of duty here it was only the second stowaway charge he could recall for Victoria.

He said Sheare was originally from New Brunswick and had been working on eastern seaboard and Great Lakes vessels.

City Tug Refloated Near Sidney

The Victoria-owned tug Standfast, which spent most of Saturday night perched on a reef at Gooch Island, five miles due east of Sidney, was refloated safely Sunday.

In company with the tug Stelmor, owned by Elsie Towing Service Ltd. of Vancouver, the 51-foot Standfast was towing 40 sections of logs when she went on the reef in the fog.

She was forced to cut the tow free, but it was taken in hand by the Stelmor and the fishpacker Hesquiat, which had been called to the scene by Air-Sea Rescue in Vancouver following a signal from Standfast.

Hesquiat stood by until Sunday morning, when the grounded tug floated free on a favorable tide.

Standfast is owned and operated by Capt. John W. Gilliam, 1880 St. Ann Street, and sails with the fleet of Associated Tug-Boats Ltd., Vancouver.

POLICE COMMISSIONER ADDED TO 'WANTED LIST' BY MAYOR

Mayor Percy Scurrah said today he has run into difficulty in finding a suitable appointee for city police commission next year.

He said several persons had been approached but could not serve because of property qualifications.

"But I'll nominate someone in my inaugural address after the New Year and council can appoint him then," he said.

Defence Counsel Raises Question

Able Seaman Aaron "Bud" Jenkins may have died from a fall or blow received some hours before he was stabbed, defence counsel suggested today in the sixth day of the Mantha murder trial in Assize Court.

George Gregory was appearing for James Bay tugboatman Leo Anthony Mantha, 31, charged with the Sept. 6 slaying of Jenkins, 23, at Naden.

Mr. Gregory contended Jenkins may have received a brain injury serious enough to cause death before two stab wounds were inflicted on him in his barrack-block bedroom.

The suggestion came during cross-examination of Naden surgeon Lieut.-Cmdr. John Edward Schinbein, who had given the cause of Jenkins' death as massive haemorrhage following stab wound to the right chest, and collapse of the right lung. He said a 1½-inch forehead cut also found would not have been lethal.

SUPERFICIAL

A third cut was found across the bridge of the nose, "but this was only superficial."

Witness said the chest wound extended from bottom of the neck 7½ inches at a 25-degree angle into the right chest cavity. There were 6½ pints of blood in the right chest and a vein was severed.

The forehead cut had gone in behind the right eyeball, and there was "some shattering of bone."

Lieut.-Cmdr. Schinbein said probable instrument used was a knife.

Gregory: "Would there be bleeding after death?"

Schinbein: "Yes."

"Would there have been 6½ pints of blood after death?"

"Probably not. Any bleeding would have been of a minimal nature. Most blood came immediately."

SKULL FRACTURE

In reply to further questioning, the navy surgeon said the "snattering of bone" in the region of the right eye could be termed a skull fracture.

He also noticed "some bruising that could have occurred prior to the cut being inflicted."

He said there was no evidence of damage to the brain, but sent sections of other organs to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Gregory: "If there were a suggestion that he (Jenkins) died from a brain injury would you have sent a section of the brain to the hospital?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you do that?"

"No, sir. I believed he did not die from a brain injury."

Mr. Gregory then suggested that perhaps Jenkins, if he had received a blow or fall before the stabbing, could have died from a skull or brain injury received in the fall or blow.

"Is it uncommon," he asked Schinbein, "for a person to suffer brain damage when he has received a blow strong enough to fracture his skull?"

City Probes $20,000 Over-Expense

City council was scheduled to meet in camera today to look into a $20,000 over-expenditure by the city engineer's department.

The money was spent in moving seven houses from the new firehall site at Camosun and Yates to Chambers and renovating them for sale. Council authorized an expenditure of $35,000 for the job earlier this year but by last week approximately $54,000 was spent.

WORK DELAYED

Work was stopped pending clarification of the expenditures.

"There may be sound reasons for the over-expenditure for all we know," said one member of council. "But we don't know what they are yet and that's the purpose of the meeting."

"After we hear what happened and why, we'll decide what is to be done about the project."

Top Executives Shun Education Says Consultant

There exists a "tremendous apathy" among ranks of business managements toward education of themselves and executives, business consultant Hugh A. Wichert of Detroit said here today.

Conducting a five-day "top executive" seminar at the Empress Hotel, he said many sound ideas for business advancement are "rotting" due to laziness or acceptance of the status quo.

If these existing but unfulfilled ideas are not followed up, he indicated, business and the general economy will suffer.

About 20 executives, a half-dozen from Victoria, are attending the seminar during which new techniques in management are explained.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me how the Crystal Garden ranks in size with other covered swimming pools.—D.H.

A. It is larger than most indoor pools on the continent, measuring 150 feet by 40 feet. The Crystal also has the distinction of being the largest swimming pool on the continent under glass. Most covered pools used in competitive swimming are only 75 feet long where fast-turning swimmers can pick up speed in kick-offs from each end.

Q. What's the distance from Vancouver to Montreal?—K.L.

A. By rail, 2,881 miles.

She Works for and Against Employer; Full Time on Job

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Kathleen Macpherson of Toronto in one job keeps a critical eye on government, and in another job works for the government.

As president of the Association of Women Electors in Toronto she attends board of education meetings. The association keeps an eye on municipal administration and encourages women to be active in local politics.

Her workday job is a chairman of the board of directors of physiotherapy, under the Drugless Practitioners' Act of Ontario. The board, established in 1953, keeps a register of physiotherapists practising in Ontario, ensures that they are qualified and that training and ethics reach a high standard.

"There is a shortage of personnel involved in both my jobs," said Mrs. Macpherson, 45, wife of a professor of political science.

"We need more women to take an active interest in municipal affairs, and we need more physiotherapists."

She says Ontario will need dozens more physiotherapists when the hospital insurance scheme starts next year.

Right now, 400 physiotherapists, who do massage and other rehabilitative work under doctor's direction, work in Ontario. At least another 20 could find jobs immediately.

On Etiquette

Indiscreet gift:

I am to be married and have notified the company where I work that I am resigning. One of the junior executives presented me with a box containing the most beautiful negligee I have ever seen. I was taken aback and don't know what to do. Isn't this kind of gift very unconventional? The enclosure card did not include his wife's name. Should the thank you note be sent to the man at his home, and if so, would not it seem odd to his wife that I would be thanking him for something so personal?

Louise Davis answers:

It is possible that the man's wife purchased the negligee, but, if so, she didn't use good judgment and, furthermore, her name, in that case, should have been included to relieve you and her husband of the embarrassment. If the executive's secretary made the purchase, she, too, used poor judgment. If the man did it himself, he should have his head examined. The only thing that you can do is to accept the gift in good faith and forget the impropriety in the selection. The negligee was a gift and whoever purchased it meant well. Write a sincere thank you note to the man thanking him for the "beautiful gift," and send it to the office. Home delivery might have drastic results. You are innocent. The junior executive is innocent. But someone else might have a different idea.

DEAR ABBY...

The Heck With Rumors!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl with a terrible problem. I get these sharp pains in my left side, but I am afraid if I tell my mother she will take me to a doctor and he might operate on me for appendicitis. I knew a girl about my age who had that happen to her and when she came out of the hospital all the girls at our school said she was in there to have a baby. I don't want that to happen to me, Abby. Please tell me what to do.

ACHING SIDE.

DEAR ACHING: Tell your mother at once! If you have to have your appendix removed and if the girls start that rumor—you can always show them the scar.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper for a man to remove his hat in an elevator when there are lady passengers? What if all the passengers in the elevator are men but the elevator operator is a woman? L.A.M.

DEAR L.A.M.: A gentleman removes his hat when there are lady passengers in the elevator. He would no more remove his hat for the "lady" who operates the elevator than he would stand for a waitress who comes to his table.

DEAR ABBY: I have a mother-in-law who loves to knit. The trouble is she can't knit very well, but she knits anyway. She made me a pair of socks last Christmas and my wife insisted that I wear them to show my appreciation. I wore them and I also wore some blisters on my heels. The socks don't fit and they are full of little knots and feel like boulders under your toes. She is knitting me more socks for Christmas. I hate to see her waste the yarn and think my wife should tell her to stop. The wife says she doesn't want to hurt her feelings. Any suggestions? BLISTERED.

DEAR BLISTERED: Let your mother-in-law knit the socks. Accept the gift with a smile... but don't put your foot in it.

Out-of-town guests at the Payne-Nicholson wedding on Saturday in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gibson with David and Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Garry Gibson and Mr. Oscar Hansen, all of Tofino, B.C., and Mr. Alan Payne and Mr. Lorne Payne who are attending University of British Columbia in Vancouver.

SOCIAL CLUB INAUGURAL TEA

On Saturday afternoon in the lounge at Oak Bay Beach Hotel members of the newly-formed Northwestern Securities Ladies' Social Club gathered for their inaugural tea. Mrs. J. E. Willings, president of the group,

Film Board Records Equal Rights Struggle

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Film Board unveiled on Friday an interesting — often amusing — record of the struggle by women for equal rights.

The suffragette, subject of many a chuckle as viewed by older films, is coupled with her modern sisters in an hour-long, two-part documentary called Women on the March.

Attending at the first screening was Citizenship Minister Ellen Fairclough in a dual capacity. She is one of the film "stars" as Canada's first female cabinet minister and she reports to Parliament for the film board.

Woman's struggle for the vote and other rights, begun in England around 1900, has been prepared for a two-part television showing over the CBC and for general distribution through film libraries. The film puts faces to familiar names including Britain's ardent feminist Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and her daughters, Susan B. Anthony and Elizabeth Cady Stanton in the United States.

In Canada, where the movement was more verbal than violent, there were such leaders as Mrs. A. V. Thomas of Winnipeg, Edmonton novelist Nellie McClung and Edmonton's Judge Emily Murphy who led the fight to have women defined as "persons" and eligible for Senate appointments.

One of the most important events of the season will be the coming-out dance of Lady Sarah Fitzalan-Howard, 17, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Norfolk. Her ball will be at Arundel Castle in July.

Although there is no official entry to the deb world, presentation to the Queen was usually regarded as the sign of recognition. Now most debs and their mothers are looking to the Queen Charlotte Ball as the main event of the social season. Held in May for the last 36 years, the ball is generally attended by most debutantes. Proceeds from the event are given to charity organizations.

Mrs. David Drummond, whose daughters, Philippa and Maxine are coming out this year and next, says: "One wants one's daughters to widen their circle of friends and the season is still the best way to do it."

Best Dressed Helps Others To Dress Better

TORONTO (CP) — One of Toronto's best-dressed women has become head of an organization which finds out what the best-dressed women wear.

Mrs. Joy McGillawee, 46, voted among the 10 best dressers in Toronto in 1956, has been elected director of Toronto's Fashion Group—an organization for disseminating details of variations in fashions.

She adds this job to her full-time occupation as director of the Wool Bureau of Canada, which tries to persuade Canadians to wear more wool. She is the only woman director of the wool bureau established in 14 countries across the world.

Mrs. McGillawee is a former school teacher and wife of a school vice-principal. She has worked in Toronto and Calgary.

Re-Elected — Mrs. William McCulloch was named president of Alpha Group, Metropolitan United Church Women's Association, at a meeting held recently.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly In Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little PASTERITE on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, goopy, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTERITE today at drug counters everywhere.

Mrs. E. J. Bonfoy and Mrs. E. Burrows took devotionals. Mrs. J. Boorman gave two solos, and tea was served by Mrs. P. Edmonds and Mrs. J. Kerley.

Small Woman Dresses to Scale

In proper proportion, the small gal can wear almost anything the tall girl can. But the trick lies in proportion.

For the gal who's around five feet, everything must be scaled down, kept neat and small. This means hats and handbags, coats and furs. She should be careful about separates. They must be very neatly co-ordinated if they are not to look messy and put-together.

And the small girl must keep her weight down: Otherwise, she burgeons into something which looks plump and flossy. A waddle is not becoming to the petite.

The small girl is also playing it safe when she keeps her hairdos simple and flattering. Leave the dramatic stuff to the tall girls; they can get away with it. But remember, they have their problems, too, and many of them would like to trade places with you.

CALM AND COOL

Serenity plays an important part in beauty. The girl who is over-talkative, the woman who is shrill and strident both destroy the picture of themselves as attractive human beings. By being insistent and demanding of response from others, they can cancel out all the physical gifts they may have.

And equally, a plain woman can create the illusion of beauty through a tranquil poise and grace.

GRADUAL CHANGE

We get so accustomed to the way we look that we are sometimes unaware we have changed some in appearance. Hair can become lack-lustre with the passing of time. Elbows can roughen and skin become dry. We can develop lumps and get thick through the waist without really feeling much different.

But gradually, these little changes add up to a picture of a careless, middle-aged woman. And sometimes, in

Welcome Room Holiday Party

President and hostesses of the Women's Welcome Room entertained members and guests at the annual Christmas party in Memorial Hall, Christ Church Cathedral.

Carol singing was enjoyed followed by an entertaining exhibition of sleight-of-hand by conjuror F. Merryfield. Eighty guests sat down at tea tables decorated with red candles and greenery. President and vice-president, Mrs. C. H. Willis and Mrs. G. Howland, presided at the head table. Special guests were Canon A. E. Greenhalgh and Mrs. Greenhalgh.

Canon Greenhalgh gave a brief talk, and at the conclusion of tea, Mrs. J. Barnes, on behalf of the members present, thanked Mrs. Willis and the hostesses for their work in the Welcome Room and for the party.

The Welcome Room was closed for the holidays on Saturday and will open again on Jan. 5.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Picadillo Is Spanish Hamburger — For a quick supper dish that the whole family will go for, make picadillo, a Spanish version of hamburger. In 4 tablespoons of olive oil, saute 1 medium onion, chopped fine, 1 medium green pepper, diced, and 1 small can of pimientos, drained and diced. When onion is tender, add 1 pound chopped beef and stir once or twice with fork until meat is cooked. Serve over hot cooked rice, or between buns as you do barbecued beef. Makes 4 servings.

Assistance Across Border

Not a thing is wrong with American-Canadian relations! Recent evidence of this fact arrived at Unitarian Service Committee headquarters, 78 Sparks Street, from an Island Pond, Vermont man. "I heard your Canadian appeal for assistance on the Montreal news tonight," he wrote. "I hope that everyone in Ottawa is OK. I am rushing you this cheque with enough extra to pay the difference in exchange." The letter was filed away with the ever-growing collection of American letters and cards that contain generous offers to knit for Korean orphans, to give financial support, and to care for destitute children abroad under the USC Foster Parent Scheme. The Vermont cheque, mailed with such prompt concern for Canadian welfare projects overseas, was added to the $200,000 USC Christmas objective, and will give aid to destitute children in Korea and India, on whose behalf the radio appeal was made.

The custom of presenting Christmas gifts dates back to the time of the ancient Romans.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It IS Late—But This Will Help You Shop

I said recently that it takes the emotional push of Christmas to make us spend money on others and go in the red. It is a wonderful spirit and a lot of fun, but I am glad that it happens only once a year or it really would be disastrous for most of us.

I think that people would love to give things to those they love or like all year long. I always am seeing something I want to give somebody, as no doubt you are, but we just can't swing it. Christmas acts as a great-purge for our emotions as well as for our pocket-books.

The main thing now is not to panic but to keep calm—those of us who have waited this late to do our shopping. A list of those to whom you are going to give a present, the advertisements in your local newspaper and the telephone must now be your first line of defence.

Of course the list comes first. For some of the names on your list you already have an answer. For suggestions for the others study the newspaper ads carefully. These will help you with your holiday shopping as much as going to a super market does when planning meals.

The telephone is a great help. You will walk many more miles than necessary unless you take advantage of it now. The use of this aid also will save you many hours. So often you know what you want to give someone and dash to buy it only to find that the store is out of the article or may not have carried it in the first place.

After making your list and looking over the advertisements and telephoning when it seems the thing to do, comes the last step in my routine for survival in last-minute shopping. Make a list of the stores to which you are going and then list under each name the gifts you are going to buy in that store. This saves a lot of backtracking. It is a terrific help, too, if you will make out cards to be enclosed with your gifts and have the presents gift wrapped, then mailed or delivered by the stores.

ROCKS GOOD—LIKE A CHAIR SHOULD

don't settle for just a chair. get him the fantastic rocker. It was dreamed up by a lady back in Tennessee and she must have watched men of all shapes and weights before she designed it. It's the first of all the K-N-E-W all men like to sit high in the back, so they can go to sleep. It's the only chair they wanted to "get their feet up" on the footstool is just the right height. It's the only chair men in Pullmans and in planes, and saw how re-lax-ed they came up with this "Original Rocker" which "PEELS GOOD LIKE A CHAIR SHOULD" and she sent it to HUMBER'S warehouse $79.50... BATTLE AGAINST WINTER is being fought on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River by a number of deepsea ships trying to reach the sea.

The Detroit Edison (foreground) here struggles through ice jammed by heavy winds into the western end of Lake Erie near Windsor, Ont.

Ice-Clogged Freighters Head for Open Atlantic

MONTREAL (CP)—Fifteen Europe-bound ocean vessels which dared venture from the protecting waters of Montreal Harbor, prepared to take on the ice-clogged St. Lawrence River again today in their bids to reach the comparatively smooth sailing in the gulf and then the Atlantic.

The British freighters Sun-kirk and Norco had made the most progress, reaching Trois-Rivières, 90 miles downstream from Montreal, Sunday night. They were expected to reach Quebec City, 50 miles farther, by tonight.

The icebreakers D'Iberville, Canada's most powerful, and

Ernest Lapointe, sliced their way through the ever-thickening ice in front of the two as temperatures hovered several degrees above the zero mark.

Once past Quebec City, where the river begins to widen to meet the gulf, the going will be much easier.

TWELVE STUCK

Twelve of the 15 were motionless at Lanoraie, 30 miles downstream from Montreal, since Friday, when unable to penetrate the ice.

The ice was reported to range from a thickness of five or six inches to rafts six feet thick and while the weather is not the sub-zero kind experienced last week, temperatures were still below freezing.

Despite the conditions, transport department officials repeated their promise to get all ocean ships yearning for their European berths free of the river. But they said "it will certainly be a few days yet".

Philip Pushes Some Ideas For Better TV

LONDON (AP)—Prince Philip is one television fan who wants better programs—but unlike some people, he can do something about it.

The husband of Queen Elizabeth called a number of leading British film and television producers to Buckingham Palace Friday for an hour-long meeting.

When the producers left the palace they were full of new ideas. Saturday they announced the formation of a joint association of movie and television producers.

IRAQ DENIES EXECUTING EX-PREMIER, 4 OTHERS

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—An official spokesman Sunday flatly denied reports that ex-premier Fadi Jamali and four others had been executed.

"They are still much alive," said the spokesman, referring to the five high officials of the pre-revolutionary regime who recently were convicted of treason and sentenced to death.

The spokesman said there has been no decision yet on possible clemency or commutation of the sentences. In the last few days there has been some pressure in the extreme left wing press for prompt carrying out of the executions.

Here's what got me out of the doghouse.

I switched to SANITONE... the double-action dry cleaning that gets clothes so much cleaner!

"Double-action is right!" First of all, this Sanitone Dry Cleaning gets clothes so clean—they actually look like new again. Belgian Fliers Hunted After Antarctic Crash

LONDON (AP)—A drama of the freezing Antarctic developed Sunday night with word that four lost Belgian fliers had abandoned their wrecked plane among icy mountains and set out on foot to find food and shelter.

A Soviet rescue plane located the wreck in the Crystal Mountains of Queen Maud Land and touched down on skis alongside to look for survivors.

Moscow Radio Sunday said

Christmas Gifts Stolen From Cars Parked Downtown

Theft of $37 worth of gifts from cars parked downtown Friday night was reported to city police.

Patrick J. Medd, 639 Langford, said three parcels containing $40 worth of children's pajamas, slippers and toys were taken from his car parked on Pandora between Blanshard and Douglas from 9:15 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

John Rendle, 204 Michigan, said his car was forced open as it was parked on Johnson between Broad and Douglas and a $13 sweater and toy monkey valued at $4, property of Victor Skinner, 1830 Newton, were taken.

the pilot found no one there—just a note saying the four Belgian explorers had set off three days ago for a supply depot 80 miles away.

The terrain ahead of them "abounds with crevices," the radio report said.

Soviet pilot Viktor Perov, flying a twin-engine LI-2, quickly took off again from the crash scene and headed out over the snow-covered land.

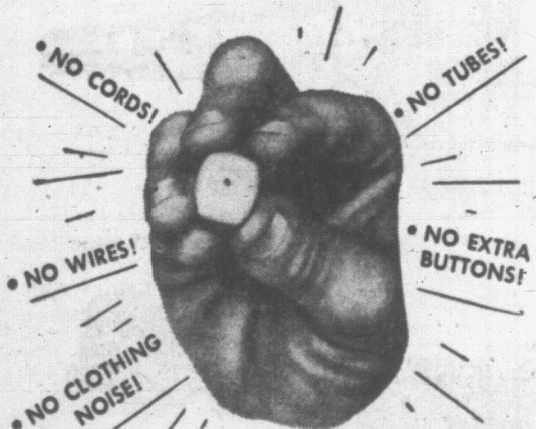

Late Sunday night Moscow Radio said Perov was still searching for the four wandering Belgians, whose little Auster reconnaissance plane vanished Dec. 6.

The crew included Prince Antoine de Ligne, son-in-law of Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg, and Capt. Gaston de Gerlach, 39, leader of the Belgian Antarctic expedition.

Suspect Arrested In Ambush Shooting

WASHINGTON (AP)—A race-horse exercise boy was arrested Sunday as the man who escaped from the ambush shooting at the home of a contractor here Friday night. Police said Lester Lorenzo Jackson, 19, Washington, also wanted on a fugitive warrant in a $22,000 holdup in Buffalo, N.Y., was captured in a rooming house in suburban Fairmont Heights, Md.

Three Die on Fog-Fouled Mainland

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three persons died, harbor traffic was all but stopped and Vancouver's airport was socked in Sunday as rolling fog continued to cover this area.

Norman Hilton Fotherby, 50, of Whalley; his son, Robert, 16, and Roy Edward Weaver, 17, were killed when their car was hit broadside by a Seattle-bound 65-mile-an-hour train. Police said the three were looking for Christmas trees when the accident happened at a crossing.

The wreckage was thrown 130 feet by the impact. Dozens of other traffic accidents were reported by police. Twelve cars collided on the south end of the Oak Street Bridge early Sunday. Damage was extensive but there were no injuries.

20 MISHAPS

Police in neighboring Richmond were called to 20 accidents Sunday, as many as they normally investigate in a month.

The main fog bank, extending along the eastern section of the Strait of Georgia, was the heaviest of the year.

Yuletide celebrations in Scotland in the 15th century lasted from Dec. 18 to Jan. 7.

Pope Warns of Schism In Red China Church

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Pope John XXIII said today that Communist-appointed bishops are bringing the threat of a schism to the Roman Catholic Church in China.

The Pope issued his warning as he raised the membership of the sacred College of Cardinals to 74 by creating 23 new princes of the church.

In his 3,000-word speech at the secret consistory creating the new cardinals, the 77-year-old pontiff spoke at length on the persecution of the Catholic Church in China.

PERSECUTION

Some Catholic priests in China, he said, have given way to the pressure of persecution and "have unhappily opened the way to a tragic attempt at schism."

"Oh," he added, "this word (schism) that we are forced to pronounce burns our lips and causes anguish to our heart."

He called on Chinese Catholics to "pluck up their courage and always remain firmly united to the mystical body of Christ" and urged "public acts of prayer and penance" to enlighten "those who have gone astray and strengthen the wills of all."

RED-NAMED BISHOPS

Referring to the Chinese Communist appointment of bishops in Peiping, Shanghai, Wuchang, Hankow and elsewhere, the Pope said:

"By this entirely unlawful way of acting, they have usurped for themselves control over the Christian sheepfold and brought fear, disorder and scandal among the sheep."

"We cannot but beseech Almighty God that in His mercy He may avert such a calamity as now is threatening the Catholic community of China," he said.

"Nevertheless, how can the shepherd of the entire fold of Christ stand idly by, saying nothing, doing nothing, while he sees the flock entrusted to him in a state of uncertainty scattered and even torn to pieces."

MOST BITTER SORROW

"How can he avoid feeling most bitter sorrow as he holds those who, because of the priesthood they once received, ought to be leading the sheep to pasture and collecting them into the one sheepfold but who instead are leading them astray and away from the one sole jurisdiction."

To those Chinese Catholics who were "oppressed but not broken" by the most bitter trials, he asserted: "You are not alone; Christ himself is with you."

"It is our wish, furthermore," he said, "that our voice and our admonitions and in vitation should reach also to those who, alas, have shown themselves to be weak, wavering, frightened, and explicitly to those who, taking over the places and sees of those dioceses and we are aware of all the means that are being used, of all the efforts that are being made, for the very purpose of drawing the clergy and Christian faithful away..."

Spectators Die In Hotel Blast

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A series of violent gas explosions tore apart a hotel early Sunday, killing six persons attracted to the scene.

The victims were trapped on the first-floor porch of the 120-year-old Mountainville Hotel as they watched the gas-fueled flames leaping out of a gaping hole in the street directly at them.

Before they could flee the blazing sheet of fire the 50-foot-high flames engulfed the building just as it was split savagely by an underground blast. The old structure of brick and stone collapsed.

At least 15 persons were hurt by the fire that resulted, and from the falling debris. They, too, had stood too close watching the burning gas explode in the street.

Officials said the death toll could have been as high as 50 had the initial explosion come inside the hotel instead of first ripping a hole in the pavement on the outskirts of this Southeastern Pennsylvania community 40 miles from Philadelphia.

Most of the 50 patrons in the hotel's bar dashed outside at the sound of the first violent roar. The hotel long has been nothing more than a tavern-restaurant. Its second floor was used as a residence by the owner.

Hundreds of residents were evacuated immediately from their homes.

Telephone and electric wires lay in massed tangles along several streets. The strong smell of gas could be detected nearly a mile away. Snow, sweeping in from the south, started falling early in the afternoon.

V.I. Family Plight Before UN?

NANAIMO — Efforts to unite the family of Mrs. Mara Baltz, suffering abdominal cancer and not expected to live until Christmas, may be placed before the United Nations.

John Taylor, Vancouver MP, who has sought permission for Mrs. Baltz' daughter in Sofia, Bulgaria, to leave the Iron Curtain country and enter Canada, said he will discuss the problem of war-separated families in Parliament.

He hopes to see Canada take the matter to the UN "to get co-operation on humane grounds" toward reuniting families.

Mrs. Baltz' daughter married in Yugoslavia during the Second World War and went to Bulgaria. Mrs. Baltz, her husband, and second daughter lived in Australia and England before settling in Canada.

1,000 MEN BATTLE RAGING BRUSH FIRE

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (AP)—An estimated 1,000 men, hampered by turbulent winds, struggled today to check a brush fire raging in mountain country eight miles northeast of this historic mission town.

The blaze broke out Sunday and consumed 10,000 acres of tall brush—some of it as high as 15 feet.

Hopes of early control of the fire were dashed when it jumped the Ortega Highway, a route linking San Juan Capistrano and Lake Elsinore. Firemen had sought to make a stand at the highway.

Nobody Will Buy Our Arrow

PARIS (Reuters)—Canada's Defence Minister Peakes said today the United States has definitely rejected Canada's Avro Arrow twin-engine supersonic CF-105 fighter.

He told reporters he had talks in Paris with U.S. Defence Secretary Neil McElroy, who informed him of the American final answer.

"I have had no success in attempting to interest the Americans in the purchase of the 105 — that is final and definite," Peakes said.

TRIED BRITAIN, EUROPE

Peakes also said he had discussed the possibility of European NATO countries being interested in the aircraft, but none—not even Britain—had the required Semi-Automatic Ground Environment SAGE system, which obtain information from radar and automatic processes and passes it to ground control towers and aircraft in flight.

Peakes said there would be "an honest attempt" in the NATO ministerial council session to meet the minimum military requirements of Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme allied commander in Europe, and that Canada has made every effort successfully to meet her commitments.

Peakes said he visited the Canadian brigade in Europe a few days ago and found the men "ready for any emergency which may arise."

Voting was fairly light here up to noon, but returning officer Mrs. S. E. Angus expected it to pick up when the shift changes at 3 p.m. at Cominco.

Light snow fell here this morning, but not enough to keep voters at home.

Complete final results may not be known for several hours after the polls close but the trend on how the vote is going should be known by 10 p.m.—two hours after the polls close.

For weeks, the district's 13,024 voters have been besieged from all sides—reminded every time they look at a paper, every time they turn on TV, every time they pass a store window, to vote for this or that candidate.

If they stayed home from meetings, they might find one of the candidates knocking on their door. Even going to work, they found smiling politicians waiting to shake their hands as they punched their time cards.

BALANCED

Support for the various parties has been so balanced during the hectic campaign that few observers are going right overboard on predictions.

Most of them think the result will be close and that if the Social Credit goes down to defeat after winning the seat three times, the CCF, as the official opposition, has the best chance.

But nobody is discounting the Liberal candidate, a family doctor with 25 years of service to families in the riding.

Though the number of registered voters in the riding is reduced 1,873 from the 1956 general election, the campaigning has been so intense, it is expected more than the 10,148 persons who voted then, will exercise their franchise today.

In the last election 5,097 votes went to the Social Credit party, 2,839 to the CCF, 1,960 to the Liberals and 252 to the Conservatives.

NEW FACTORS

Since then many things have occurred which could alter these figures.

The MLA who held the seat until last month, former cabinet minister Robert Sommers, vacated his seat after conviction for bribery. The government party has been under attack over handling of the case and on other fronts as well—most controversial being the charges brought by former B.C. Power Commission general manager H. Lee Briggs.

Polio Victim Named B.C. Rhodes Scholar

VANCOUVER (CP)—A student who turned tragedy to triumph has been named British Columbia's Rhodes Scholar for 1959.

John Helliwell, 21-year-old fifth-year student at the University of British Columbia, was advised during the weekend that he is the winner of the coveted scholarship.

In his first year at university he was stricken with polio, his left arm paralyzed and his respiratory muscles crippled.

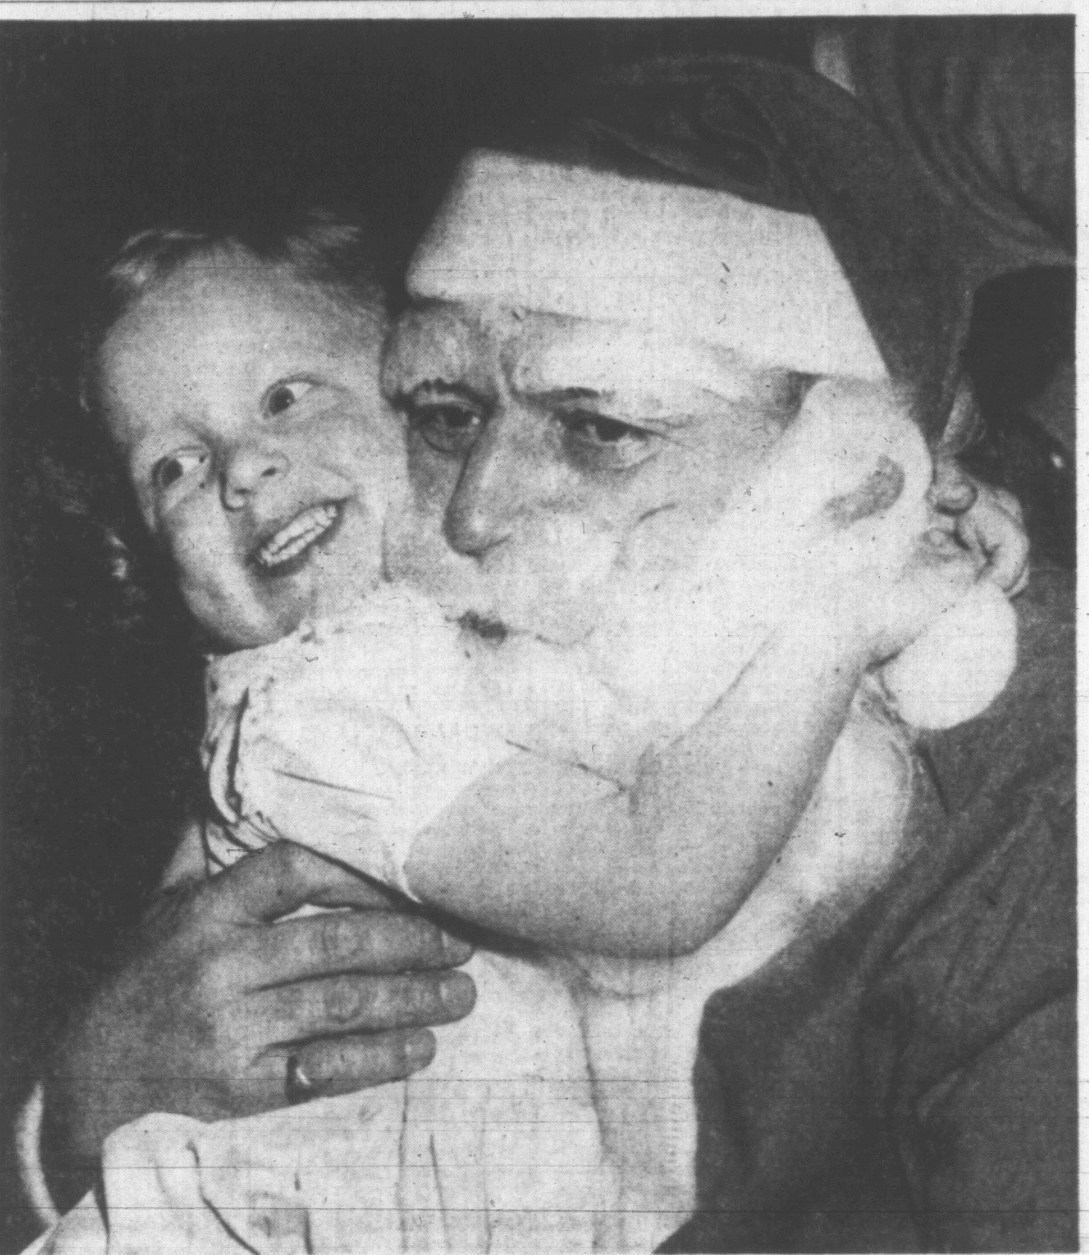

He spent two months in hospital and five months attending rehabilitation classes.

Helliwell then started to pick up the broken pieces of his university career.

He topped his class in both his sophomore and junior years, winning six scholarships and a major essay prize. He took part in athletics, and was active in student council activities.

Helliwell, son of chartered accountant John Helliwell Sr., of Vancouver, will go to Oxford next fall, where he will study philosophy, economics and politics. The Rhodes scholarship pays $2,250 annually during the two-year term at Oxford.

HELL'S GATE BID DELAYED BY FROGMAN

Reds Charge U.S. Plane Opened Fire

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union today protested the "unprovoked fire opened by a United States military aircraft upon a Soviet fighter" near Latvia, Moscow Radio reported.

The charge came in a reply to a U.S. note of Nov. 13 asking information about 11 American airmen whose plane crashed in Soviet Armenia in September.

In the latest note, the Soviet government reiterated that all responsibility for "dangerous flights by U.S. aircraft" and violation of Soviet frontiers rests with the American government.

It said it was clearly established that American planes on Nov. 7 and 8 carried out deliberate flights for hostile purposes in the Baltic and in the Far East, and called on the U.S. government to forbid once and for all U.S. Air Force flights toward the state frontiers of the U.S.S.R.

'MILK FOR HUNGRY CHILDREN'

Small Sacrifice, Big Help

You can feed a starving child milk for a month—one glass daily—for a paltry 1½ cents. This is the cost of transportation of free powdered milk provided by the Canadian government, designed for children of Korea, India and Hong Kong — if the money needed can be raised by month's end.

A half package of cigarettes less within the next 15 days for dad; just a slight cut-back in candies for the kids; using those old bobby pins instead of buying a new package for mother—this will provide milk for more than 50 little victims of privation.

Not much of a sacrifice, you say?

Needs Time To Prepare Presentation

By HAL MALONE
Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER — H. Lee Briggs today asked the Royal Commission probe into the B.C. Power Commission for a one-month adjournment to prepare his evidence.

Mr. Briggs, the man whose charges resulted in the inquiry, made his request through counsel Earl Vance, as the hearing opened here.

His counsel noted that the dismissed general manager had been requested to testify Wednesday in Victoria, where the commission also will hold hearings on the 18th and 22nd of December. It will then return to Vancouver for hearings Jan. 5 and 12.

Mr. Vance suggested that Mr. Briggs could not prepare an adequate brief in so short a time and said it would be impossible for his client to appear and give full testimony until sometime in the second week in January.

Chairman Gordon Shrum said the commission could not accept such a postponement and asked that Briggs appear on the 17th to give what testimony he could, appearing again later if necessary.

When Briggs' counsel insisted, chairman Shrum said he would consult with his fellow-commissioners on the matter.

FOUR TESTIFY

Four members of the power commission gave evidence as the first sitting opened. They were T. H. Crosby, chairman; Dr. H. J. MacLeod, commissioner; Garth Griffiths, director of administration, and E. T. Quirk, generation planning engineer.

The Royal Commission was told:

1. The B.C. Power Commission could have put through its proposed 12 per cent rate boost last Oct. 1 without the authority of the lieutenant-governor-in-council.
2. Unless a rate increase is put into effect in the near future, the B.C. Power Commission is clearly headed for heavy operating deficits.
3. A difference of interest rate of 1 per cent in money borrowed for the construction of a large hydro project can mean a difference of 17 per cent in the cost of producing the power when the project is completed.
4. The B.C. Power Commission serves 80,000, or 18 per cent of the 450,000 electrical customers in B.C. In providing this service, the commission covers 57 per cent of the geographical area of the province.

"NOT INDIVIDUALS"

Dr. Shrum said the Royal Commission was set up to enquire into the operations of the B.C. Power Commission and its rate structure.

"This is not an investigation of individuals," Dr. MacLeod said today. The Power Commission advised the provincial government on Sept. 11 of its intent to revise its rates for an average increase in revenue of 12 per cent per kilowatt hour and proposed to put these into effect on Oct. 1, 1958.

John D. Back At Work

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker returned to the capital today from his world tour and then planned to meet his cabinet in the afternoon to give them "a broad outline" of his impressions.

His RCAF C-5 transport landed at nearby Uplands at 12 noon where the prime minister was greeted by a crowd of about 200 and members of his cabinet and the diplomatic corps.

He had cut short his world tour to fly to the bedside of his 86-year-old mother in a Saskatoon hospital.

After alighting from the aircraft Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker personally thanked each member of the crew that had flown them on his trip.

Later, the prime minister talked to reporters in an RCAF hangar.

HAPPY TO BE BACK

"I am very happy to be back and I am looking forward to the events of the next few weeks," he said.

The prime minister said the date for the opening of the next parliamentary session may be set today, certainly some time this week.

He declined comment on the cabinet's recent decision to allow the railways a freight rate increase of 17 per cent worth some $60,000,000 over the ob-

Free Trade Offer Made By Britain

PARIS (Reuters)—Britain offered today to throw open her home markets to the six countries of the European Common Market in a new bid to prevent a threatened trade war in Western Europe.

The surprise proposal was made to the ministerial council of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation, meeting here to discuss the breakdown in negotiations for a 17-country European free trade area.

The offer was designed to obtain similar acceptance of British goods by the six Common Market countries when their new trade alliance goes into effect Jan. 1.

The Common Market members went into an immediate meeting to consider the British proposal. But Common Market sources said acceptance of the British plan would mean "drowning" the six-nation pact.

MOSCOW—The newspaper Soviet Sport has taken notice of the hula hoop craze. It doesn't think much of it.

Writer A. Kulashov, who saw hula hoops in action in Paris, had these comments: "Looks like a combination belly dance and acrobatic stunt."
"A tragedy in which physical exercise has degenerated down to rock 'n' roll."

that the government was undermining public power in B.C.

Since then also there has been a revival of the Conservatives in the federal field and re-organization has been undertaken by the Liberals.

And steps have been taken to bring greater unity between the CCF and labor.

If these factors combine to defeat the Social Credit party, opposition parties are expected to demand a general election on grounds a want-of-confidence vote in the government has been expressed.

BENNETT LEAVES

A battery of cabinet ministers also has returned to Victoria. Left to help organize teams of scrutineers and fleets of cars to get out the voters are the candidates—Donald Brothers, Social Credit, 35-year-old lawyer; Dr. F. E. Krause, Liberal, 58, physician and surgeon; F. E. DeVito, CCF, 38, Trill alderman, and Alex Brokenshire, Conservative, 41, Cominco personnel officer.

It is the first by-election in B.C. since Sept. 9, 1957, when Social Credit retained two seats and the CCF one in voting in three ridings.

Standing in the legislature: Social Credit 37, CCF 10, Liberal 2, Independent 2, vacant 1. Total 52.

jections of all provinces except Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he had been kept fully informed about this situation and other events during his absence from Ottawa.

NO FURTHER INCREASE
On the Colombo Plan, he indicated the government has no present plans for a further increase in Canadian aid beyond the $50,000,000 it plans to contribute in the next fiscal year starting April 1. The contribution this year was $35,000,000.

He said one could not realize the success of the Colombo Plan "without seeing it in operation" as he had. The plan was one of the "most hopeful institutions of our time."

Asked to comment on possible Canadian recognition of Communist China, he said "I'll deal with that later on." During the brief reference to this subject, he added he has at present no particular plans for meeting soon with President Eisenhower.

NEVER FELT BETTER

The prime minister appeared to be in fine fettle. He told reporters "I have never felt better in years."

Asked whether he considered the trip exhausting, he said it was no worse than a Canadian general election campaign.

He said he was returning to Canada with a "new realization of the importance of the Commonwealth." There was a "very real desire" among Commonwealth members to co-operate for prosperity and freedom. Without exception, he had found warmth everywhere for Canada and Canadians.

"A useful thing—in this case physical exercise—converted under the conditions of capitalism's methods of business, and profits into the complete opposite."

LONDON—Russian inventor Anantoly Inyanyuta has developed a bicycle that can fly at about 40 miles an hour, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

NOTTINGHAM, England—A man has been arrested in Nottingham in connection with one of Britain's most audacious thefts.

The stolen article was a judge's wig.
Police would not give the chap's name but they said Judge Sir Henry Baund had his wig lifted from his car last week while in Derby.

The judge was not wearing the wig at the time.

SCARSDALE, N.Y.—A pop-eyed resident called police to report he saw a dog wearing blue pyjamas.

Police went to the scene Sunday night and found, sure enough, a Welsh terrier in blue pyjamas.

Mrs. Cybil Jailer later turned up to claim the animal. She told police the dog had run off just before bedtime.

BRIGGS

amination was still in progress, Dr. MacLeod said, but added:

"Unless a rate increase is put into effect in the near future, the B.C. Power Commission is clearly headed for heavy operating deficits."

MILLION A YEAR
He said the underlying reason for the rates revision is the higher cost of energy and one of the factors involved was higher interest rates which are a direct charge on operations. He said higher interest rates on recent bond issues account for an additional interest cost to the commission of about $1,000,000 a year.

Mr. Crosby, who is chairman of the Power Commission, said that capital assets of the commission had increased from $70,000,000 to $170,000,000 since the appointment of the present commission in March, 1954 and the number of customers had increased from 52,000 to 80,000.

He outlined the general policy and financing of the commission.

Mr. Griffiths, power commission's director of administration, testified that interest on borrowed money constitutes the largest single item of operating cost. For this reason, he said, low interest rates are vital if power is to be available to the public at low rates.

He said that during the last year the commission almost doubled its long-term debt, entering the bond market with no less than seven issues totalling $85,000,000.

MINUTE RETURNS

On the general operating picture, he said, only 2/10 of a cent was left out of every dollar of revenue when all expenses had been met and suitable provisions for emergencies had been made. This surplus was "microscopic point 0.02 per cent of average capital investment."

He said the present gross return on $100 of investment capital is $8.80 and added: "It is very doubtful whether any electric utility in Canada engaged in generation, transmission and distribution, is able to operate and remain solvent with such a low ratio. The ratio is usually at least double that of the commission's operation."

'POCKET COPTER' that can be folded up in five minutes has been ordered into production for U.S. Navy. The machine, called Hiller Rotocycle, can go 70 m.p.h. and hit 15,000 feet.

Two New MPs Picked Today

OTTAWA (CP)—Voting took place today in two federal by-elections to name new Commons members for the residential riding of Toronto Trinity and the primarily rural seat of Springfield, Man.

Both fell to the Progressive Conservatives in their general election landslide last March 31. Although campaigning generally was quiet in both constituencies, the Liberal and CCF parties have worked hard to reverse those results.

Each of the three parties is represented in Springfield, while a Communist candidate makes it a four-way fight in Trinity.

Polling began at 8 a.m., local time, and concludes at 6 p.m.

A break in a month-long cold spell favored voters at Springfield. Early voting was slow at six polls in Beausejour but party officials said voting increased near noon.

Candidates for the seat left vacant by the death of Progressive Conservative Val Yacula are: Jacob (Jake) Schulz of Winnipeg, CCF; Anton B. Weselak of Beausejour, Liberal; and Dr. Joseph B. Sloan, Progressive Conservative.

There are 118 polls and about 21,800 voters in the big eastern Manitoba riding.

At Toronto, scattered snow flurries and a high of 25 above zero were forecast.

COULD SET RECORD
One aspect of the voting was the fact that retention of both seats by the government would provide a new Canadian high in the number of Commons members mustered by a party. The Conservatives made history in March with a total of 208 and could make it 209 today.

Present Commons standing is Conservatives 207, Liberals 48, CCF 8, vacant 2—total 265.

What was called a young man's contest shaped up in Toronto Trinity, a multi-language constituency in the city's west end where immigrant residents have steadily increased. There were 28,188 eligible voters—more than 2,000 down on the total of last March.

Carrying the Conservative banner is Dr. Joseph Lesniak, 26, a bachelor dentist. Paul Hellyer, 35, a construction company executive who was associate defence minister briefly in the last Liberal cabinet, is the Liberal. Union secretary John Elchuk, 27, represents the CCF, and Sam Walsh, 42, a former union organizer, stands for the Communists.

The death of E. R. Lockyer forced the Toronto byelection.

College Rehires Crowe As Churchill Steps In

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prof. Harry S. Crowe was reinstated at United College today following a nine-month wrangle over a private letter that led to his dismissal and the resignation of 16 other persons.

The reinstatement was announced in a terse 56-word statement from the board of regents which gave no details on how the settlement was reached.

It said the 36-year-old associate professor of history, dismissed in September, would resume his duties immediately.

The statement, issued on behalf of Allan H. Watson, board chairman, said: "The board hopes that all concerned will now unite in an effort to enable United College to continue its rightful place in the academic world."

It was learned the decision to reinstate Prof. Crowe was made at a board meeting Sunday attended by Trade Minister Gordon Churchill, a member of the board. He had not attended previous meetings on the dispute.

He attended Sunday's meeting after being approached by a third person, a mutual friend of the minister and Mr. Crowe, and receiving a memorandum from Mr. Crowe stating his anxiety to settle the dispute.

Mr. Churchill was returning to Ottawa today and was not available for comment.

In a statement, Prof. Crowe said he had no comment to make on the board's statement but said that with the consent of Mr. Churchill he was releasing a memorandum which he handed to Mr. Churchill on Saturday.

"Memorandum to the Honorable Gordon Churchill: 'When I began last April the defence of what I conceived to be my rights as a citizen and as a member of the academic profession, it did not occur to me that the point might be reached where the very existence of United College with its long traditions and in many ways, unique position in Canadian society, would be brought into question. That point seems now to have been reached.'

"As a former student of the college and as a faculty member I am proud of the traditions of the college and aware of its vital role in the community."

"For these reasons and in the interests of the students I am most anxious to effect the termination of the public debate of the affairs of the college, to resume my duties in the classroom, to begin within the walls of the college the process of reconstruction and the restoration of academic confidence in the college."

Dr. W. C. Lockhart, principal, and 15 professors have tendered their resignations, effective next Aug. 21, as a result of the case.

Dr. Lockhart said today the board has asked him to reconsider but the resignation still stands.

"WHAT are you doing sitting here in the dark?" said the nurse, flicking on the lights in Mrs. Brown's room. "We mustn't be mopey, you know. That's not good for us. Not good for us at all."

"It was such a wonderful sunset," Mrs. Brown said. "So unexpected, somehow, after the misty, moody December morning."

"I've brought your laxative," the nurse said brightly. "Those bowels of yours need a little help, you know. Drink it down, there's a good girl. We mustn't miss our cocktail, must we? That would never do."

Good Lord, give me patience, Mrs. Brown thought, and looked out the window to where the delicate crescent of a bright, new moon lay on its back in the western sky.

"Dreary old night," said the nurse, letting down the blind with quick determination. "We'll shut it out and get rid of it."

"The night will never stay," Mrs. Brown murmured absently. "The night will slip away like sorrow or a tune."

But the nurse was going. "I'll be back in a minute," she said, peering back round the door. "Got a patient on the pan down the hall. To tell you the truth, I'd quite forgotten her."

"Good Lord," said Mrs. Brown, and laughed as she hadn't laughed for days. "To each his own. But this is no place for me."

Then, unbidden, there crept into her mind a prayer which her brother had quoted in his Christmas letter. "Give me the strength to bear with serenity those things that cannot be changed; give me the courage to change those things which can and should be changed; and give me the wisdom to distinguish one from the other."

Ruth

Prayer and poetry, she reflected. Even if her limbs had partly lost their power, at least she had retained her memory and her sense of humor. That, at any rate, was something to be thankful for.

Deliberately, she let her mind run in pleasant channels. Sitting there, in her chair beside the blind window, she thought of childhood times, and remembered noble words nobly spoken.

"That was grandmother," she said to herself. "What a queer, quiet little person she was. Often, when she talked, she was quoting poetry. But I never realized it. I simply thought that she was talking beautifully."

Then, still in her chair, and wishing that her poor right hand had the power to raise the blind, she repeated the Elisabeth Coatsworth poem she'd pinned up by her sink-side on the day before she had had the little stroke:

"What is once loved:
You will find
Is always yours
From that day.
Take it home
In your mind
And nothing ever
Can take it away."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Churchill Seeks Home

LONDON—One of England's most highly paid authors—his earnings from his books since the war have put him well beyond being a dollar millionaire—is seeking a house in sun-drenched Marrakesh, southern Morocco. He has been on holiday there before and liked it so well that he has decided that's where he would like to have a home.

But this time there will be no accusations of skipping from England to avoid the taxman, as with Noel Coward and other British writers. Name of the author concerned: Sir Winston Churchill.

Another author (this one not a statesman as well) also in the news—Evelyn Waugh. If you're a fan of his and would like to know how and why he writes you can get hold of a book just published, "Evelyn Waugh: Portrait of an Artist," by Frederick J. Stopp. Conclusion reached therein: he'd have been a much better novelist if he hadn't been so intent on being a gentleman.

Something to add to your store of relatively useless information... What's the life of a hotwater bottle? Three years, according to a judgment given in the appeal court against a manufacturer, one of whose products burst after three months.

Black mark awarded to Canada by the Sunday Express: "The Spanish ambassador, finding himself named as co-respondent in a matrimonial case, resigns his post to contest the case rather than claim diplomatic immunity to which he is entitled. But a member of the Canadian Commissioner's London staff pleads diplomatic immunity to escape trial on a careless driving charge. Good for Spain. But so sad for Canada."

Ingrid Bergman being praised to the skies for her latest movie, "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness," with the late Robert Donat. She plays a missionary in what looks very much like China but is actually North Wales.

And things I didn't know before: it is illegal to tip taxi-drivers in this country. The law says they must not accept more than 10p on the meter. But try abiding by the letter of the law!

In recent years Britain's most talked about cartoonist was Giles, who took over from where David Low left off. But now, since he has slipped so badly, the daily comment isn't "have you seen the latest Giles?" It's "Andy Capp" everyone is talking about. A collection of cartoons featuring this lazy, race-going, pub-frequenting character has just been brought out in book form and selling like hot cakes.

Pontecorvo Nominated For Prize

MOSCOW (AP) — Bruno Pontecorvo, the Italian-born physicist who fled to Russia with British atomic secrets, today was nominated for a Lenin prize in science — highest Soviet decoration in the field.

Pontecorvo disappeared behind the Iron Curtain in 1950 after working seven years on top secret British projects that gave him access to Canadian-American research in nuclear weapons. Pontecorvo worked at Chalk River, Ont., and Los Alamos, N.M.

Several Soviet scientists also were nominated for the Lenin prizes in several fields.

Pontecorvo has been working in the Dubno nuclear research centre north of Moscow.

'Hands-Off' UN Session Ends With New Crisis

By LLOYD McDONALD

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The 1956 United Nations General Assembly, which opened amid two international crises, has closed under the shadow of a new one after three months of meetings which failed to produce a single East-West agreement on a major political issue.

Significantly, the 13th assembly of the UN took no direct action on any of the three crises — the Middle East, Quemoy and Berlin.

Most delegations worked quietly to keep the assembly from becoming a stage for inflammatory debate which might have had the effect of increasing tension to the breaking point.

The result was a hands-off attitude throughout on these three major trouble spots. Quemoy and the Middle East, which threatened global outbreaks during the late summer, have smoldered on but have notably diminished as a direct peace threat. Most diplomats hope that in the coming weeks something will happen to bring about the same effect on the encircled former German capital.

The assembly worked until midnight Saturday night to wind up its business for the year, but scheduled another meeting opening Feb. 20 on the question of the independence of the UN's African trust territories of Nigeria, Italian Somaliland, French Togoland, and the British and French Cameroons. The February session will discuss the admission to UN membership of these latter two.

The French refused to participate in debate Saturday night on a motion led by the Asian-African group to have the UN recognize the Algerian people's right to independence and call on France to bring an end to the four-year war between French troops and armed nationalist elements.

VOTE CLOSE

The assembly's vote on the motion was close — just one short of the required two-thirds majority of members present and voting. But the defeat means the UN is not on record now over what France has contended all along is her own internal affair and no concern of the world body.

The final East-West clash came at the closing meeting on passage by the assembly, with only the Soviet bloc voting against it, of a motion setting up an 18-country committee to study the peaceful uses of outer space.

HOME GARDEN

That Winter Storage Problem

Winter storage of plants in their pots can be a problem to some of the newer gardeners.

This week, while there is still freedom from the last-week excitement of Christmas home preparations, time should be allotted for the checking of these plants.

Fuchsias and hydrangeas will have dropped all their leaves, and will be quite safe even though in a dark place. It should be cool to prevent premature growth. The soil in the pots must not be dust dry.

Old plants of geraniums brought in and potted will still have leaves in good condition. Keeping them in a light, cool place with water every 10 days will prevent them growing too much until spring.

Tuberous-rooted plants such as gloxinias, begonias (the tuberous types), gesnera and achimenes (cupid's bower) may be stored in quite dry soil in a temperature between 50 and 60 de F. The fact that they are practically covered by the soil will prevent the storage tuber from drying out more than is good for it.

The same applies to the truly tuberous plants like crinum and hippastrum.

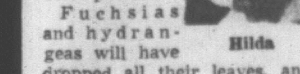

LITTLE WATER

Foliage plants which die down in their winter rest period, or all or most of their leaves, require somewhat different treatment. For instance, streptocarpus, the cape-prime, likes to have a little water about once a week and needs to be kept in a warmer place than the previously mentioned plants.

Fleshy-rooted plants such as clivia (sometimes commonly called Kafir-lily, although this name is also applied to the schizostylis, a quite different plant which is hardy outdoors) should have their leaves kept green, but will need water only about once in three weeks.

If you had your plants given you and cannot readily see what type of roots they have, the best advice I can give is to tap each plant out of its pot, and find out. Seeing is knowing.

Father Quizzed In Murders

Teenage Killer Story Checked

EL CAJON, Calif. (AP)—A man who has blamed a transient teen-ager for the slaying of his wife and four children was himself the subject of extensive police questioning Sunday.

Examination of Thomas J. Pendergast, 39, included two lie detector tests ordered by Police Chief Joe O'Connor.

O'Connor said that in view of the nature of the crime he felt the tests were justified. He declined to discuss the tests, conducted during seven hours of questioning of Pendergast, other than to say: "His story is consistent. But we feel we've made progress by the polygraphic lie detector examinations."

Investigators said Pendergast was asked specifically for more details about his connection with Carl Eder, the missing teen-ager Pendergast has said he befriended in the hope of saving him from a life of crime.

FIVE SLAIN

Eder, 16, known to the Pendergast family as Charles Harrison, has been charged with murdering Mrs. Lois Pendergast, 37, and her children, David, 9; Thomas, 6; Diane, 4; and Allen, 2. The bodies were found in the family home here Friday night.

The mother had been shot twice and the children's throats had been cut. The youngsters were otherwise slashed and the skulls of two of them were fractured.

Pendergast fingered a small Bible as he talked with reporters after the police questioning. He was returned to the county hospital psychiatric ward after the questioning. He had been held there because of his distraught condition.

Two Days Extra Grace To Pay Fines

Traffic and parking offenders paying fines out of court may get up to two days extra grace over Christmas and New Year's holidays.

Deputy Chief Harry Mercer outlined holiday traffic office hours Friday, including a couple of changes this year.

There will be early closing—at 5 p.m.—on both Christmas and New Year's Eve, and in addition to being closed Christmas Day, Boxing Day and New Year's Day, the office will also be closed Jan. 2.

Both the following Saturdays—Dec. 27 and Jan. 3—the traffic office will open as usual.

BOY FROZEN TO DEATH ON HIS LAWN

HUNTER, Utah (AP)—M. R. Peterson stepped into the dawn outside his Salt Lake Valley home Sunday and found his two-year-old son, Zachary, frozen to death on the lawn.

The family was unaware the boy had left the house. The temperature had dipped to 22 degrees above zero during the night.

TV's 'Kingfish' Tim Moore, Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Harry R. Tim Moore, 70, the Kingfish of the Amos 'n' Andy television series, died here Saturday after a lengthy illness.

He had been in critical condition since Nov. 4 with advanced pulmonary tuberculosis.

Moore's wife, Vivian, had been an almost constant companion at his bedside. They were married last year, eight months after the death of Moore's first wife.

SHOW RETURNS

Moore made the last television film for the Amos 'n' Andy series in 1953. But returns of the 79-film series are still being shown in scores of cities.

"The series really wasn't dated," said Freeman Gosden, who played both Amos and the Kingfish in the original radio series.

"His voice will carry on. His comedy will carry on for years after he's gone."

Moore came out of retirement when Gosden and Charles Correll decided to change their radio show into a television series.

Moore was 58 then and had been in show business for 46 years. He played in Blackbirds of '28 on Broadway, travelled with the show in Europe, and returned to the United States in the late '30s to tour as part of a comedy act appearing with big-name bands.

CAME BACK

The chance to play Kingfish called Moore away from retirement. He often said he wanted to retire again and go back to his fishing, but he never did. In recent months, before illness felled him, he was a master of ceremonies at a Los Angeles strip-tease house.

Dual Appeal in Concert

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

CANNED GOODS PILED HIGH FOR NEEDY

More than 10 cases of canned goods were contributed by 600 youngsters Saturday as admission to a special Odeon Theatre Club program staged on behalf of the surplus food stall.

The program was sponsored by the merchants of the 700 Block Yates.

Food stall operator Mrs. E. E. Harper said the pre-Christmas stall will be held Saturday and Sunday, with other treats for the needy would be welcomed.

"We could really do with anything," she said.

Persons wishing to donate should get in touch with Mrs. Harper at EV 3-9874 or at 1595 Rockland.

Particularly well chosen for the Christmas season, though not obviously so, music of this weekend's Victoria Symphony Orchestra pair of concerts has a distinctly dual appeal.

While the spirit is stirred by the nobility of Beethoven's "Eroica" Symphony and the visionary beauty of Vaughan-Williams' Five Mystical Songs, the seasonal mood for merry-making is reflected in the unexpected charm of the waltz motif in Dvorak's Scherzo Capriccioso.

The twin emotions of joyousness and devotion, cleverly entwined in Corelli's "Christmas" Concerto, gave conductor and orchestra scope for some of the lucid and shapely phrase-making. Violin, flute and other solo passages were impressive.

With Clifford Evens leaving his concert master's desk for the podium, the orchestra gave a generally confident, at moments brilliant, and often sensitive performance. The Vaughan-Williams song cycle was particularly notable in this latter respect.

HARD PASSAGES

And if there were some instances of doubtful tonality and a bit of raggedness on one or two occasions, these were flaws of minor consequence when one contemplated some fiendishly difficult passages played with breath-taking skill—specifically in the Dvorak and the finale of the "Eroica."

The Dvorak, incidentally, so melodically lovely and orchestrally colorful, would bear an early repetition. Guest artist, Canadian baritone James Milligan, provided his audience with the happy experience of hearing a great voice used with intelligence, taste and technical competence of a high order.

RICH, SILKEN

This very tall and personable young artist who has already appeared on some of the most august concert and operatic stages of the world, sings effortlessly, using a voice that is as rich and silken as velvet.

It is a warm, flexible instrument under remarkable dynamic control at all times. The Vaughan-Williams cycle ranged from the deeply reflective to a mood of high exaltation and Milligan had the vocal color and temper to give clear expression to each mood.

TRAIL VOTE SEEN TOSS-UP

By PETE LOUDON
Times Political Reporter

TRAIL—Rossland-Trail is expected a record vote today in a provincial by-election campaign which has drawn the attention of all Canada.

Voting was fairly light here up to noon, but returning officer Mrs. S. E. Angus expected it to pick up when the shift changes at 3 p.m. at Cominco.

Light snow fell here this morning, but not enough to keep voters at home.

Complete final results may not be known for several hours after the polls close but the trend on how the vote is going should be known by 10 p.m.—two hours after the polls close.

For weeks, the district's 13,024 voters have been besieged from all sides—reminded every time they turn on TV, every time they pass a store window, to vote for this or that candidate.

If they stayed home from meetings, they might find one of the candidates knocking on their door. Even going to work, they found smiling politicians waiting to shake their hands as they punched their time cards.

BALANCED

Support for the various parties has been so balanced during the hectic campaign that few observers are going right overboard on predictions.

Most of them think the result will be close and that if the Social Credit goes down to defeat after winning the seat three times, the CCF, as the official opposition, has the best chance.

But nobody is discounting the Liberal candidate, a family doctor with 25 years of service to families in the riding.

Though the number of registered voters in the riding is reduced 1873 from the 1956 general election, the campaigning has been so intense, it is expected more than the 10,148 persons who voted then, will exercise their franchise today.

In the last election 5,097 votes went to the Social Credit party, 2,839 to the CCF, 1,960 to the Liberals and 252 to the Conservatives.

Since then many things have occurred which could alter these figures.

The MLA who held the seat until last month, former cabinet minister Robert Sommers, vacated his seat after conviction for bribery. The government party has been under attack over handling of the case and on other fronts as well—most controversial being the charges brought by former B.C. Power Commission general manager H. Lee Briggs.

Cabinet Meet

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker returned to the capital today from his world tour and then planned to meet his cabinet in the afternoon to give them "a broad outline" of his impressions.

His RCAF C-5 transport landed at nearby Uplands at 12 noon where the prime minister was greeted by a crowd of about 200 and members of his cabinet and the diplomatic corps.

He had cut short his world tour to fly to the bedside of his 86-year-old mother in a Saskatoon hospital.

After alighting from the aircraft Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker personally thanked each member of the crew that had flown them on his trip.

Later, the prime minister talked to reporters in an RCAF hangar.

HAPPY TO BE BACK

"I am very happy to be back and I am looking forward to the events of the next few weeks," he said.

The prime minister said the date for the opening of the next parliamentary session may be set today, certainly some time this week.

He declined comment on the cabinet's recent decision to allow the railways a freight rate increase of 17 per cent worth some $60,000,000 over the ob-

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada's marine engineers plan to merge with the largest national transport union to save themselves from being swallowed by the Seafarers' International Union.

The move—one of the most dramatic to occur on the labor scene since the Canadian Labor Congress was set up in 1956—was announced here today by Richard Greaves, president of the National Association of Marine Engineers, and Elroy Robson, vice-president of the 40,000-strong Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers.

The announcement followed an engineers' district convention held here Saturday at which delegates voted unanimously to open amalgamation talks with the transport union.

A similar convention will be held soon for members in eastern Canada, and at national membership referendum will be organized on the issue "as soon as possible."

If the operation goes smoothly, the marine engineers could be a near-autonomous part of the larger group by next March.

"We are offering the engineers a protective umbrella," said Robson.

The Canadian Labor Congress already is considering N.A.M.E. charges of seafarers' raiding, and the resolution adopted here Saturday referred to "severe raiding attacks by the SIU."

Briggs Seeks Month's DelayBy HAL MALONE
Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER — H. Lee Briggs today asked the Royal Commission probe into the B.C. Power Commission for a one-month adjournment to prepare his evidence.

Mr. Briggs, the man whose charges resulted in the inquiry, made his request through counsel Earl Vance, as the hearing opened here.

His counsel noted that the dismissed general manager had been requested to testify Wednesday in Victoria, where the commission also will hold hearings on the 18th and 22nd of December. It will then return to Vancouver for hearings Jan. 5 and 12.

Mr. Vance suggested that Mr. Briggs could not prepare an adequate brief in so short a time and said it would be impossible for his client to appear and give full testimony until sometime in the second week in January.

Chairman Gordon Shrum said the commission could not accept such a postponement and asked that Briggs appear on the 17th to give what testimony he could, appearing again later if necessary.

When Briggs' counsel insisted, chairman Shrum said he would consult with his fellow-commissioners on the matter.

FOUR TESTIFY

Four members of the power commission gave evidence as the first sitting opened. They were T. H. Crosby, chairman; Dr. H. J. MacLeod, commissioner; Garth Griffiths, director of administration; and E. T. Quirk, generation planning engineer.

The Royal Commission was told:

1. The B.C. Power Commission could have put through its proposed 12 per cent rate boost last Oct. 1 without the authority of the lieutenant-governor-in-council.

2. Unless a rate increase is put into effect in the near future, the B.C. Power Commission is clearly headed for heavy operating deficits.

3. A difference of interest rate of 1 per cent in money borrowed for the construction of a large hydro project can mean a difference of 17 per cent in the cost of producing the power when the project is completed.

4. The B.C. Power Commission serves 80,000, or 18 per cent of the 450,000 electrical customers in B.C. in providing this service, the commission covers 57 per cent of the geographical area of the province.

5. The commission's revenue in 1957 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

6. The commission's revenue in 1958 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

7. The commission's revenue in 1959 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

8. The commission's revenue in 1960 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

9. The commission's revenue in 1961 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

10. The commission's revenue in 1962 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

11. The commission's revenue in 1963 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

12. The commission's revenue in 1964 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

13. The commission's revenue in 1965 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

14. The commission's revenue in 1966 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

15. The commission's revenue in 1967 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

16. The commission's revenue in 1968 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

17. The commission's revenue in 1969 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

18. The commission's revenue in 1970 was $10,000,000, or 12 per cent of the total revenue of the province.

Plans Told
At Shrum
Hearing

VANCOUVER (CP) — Seven rivers are under investigation by the British Columbia Power Commission as possible sites to bolster the power supply position on Vancouver Island, the Royal Commission on power was told today.

The testimony came from E. T. Quirk, generation planning engineer for the power commission.

Mr. Quirk said that electrical generating capacity on Vancouver Island has increased at the rate of 34 per cent a year since the power commission was formed in 1945. This was in contrast to the normal load growth for a Canadian utility of 10 per cent a year.

BROWN-OUT LOOMS

The big increase was pushed to meet the snowballing increase in power need on Vancouver Island. If a dry year had occurred during the period until completion of the Strathcona station at Campbell River four months ago, "the commission's customers would have faced a brown-out," Mr. Quirk said.

He said the drain on the capacity of the John Hart and Ladore Falls station in the Campbell River system made it difficult to reserve enough water to fill the Buttle Lake reservoir.

SAFEGUARD NEEDED

This was overcome by purchasing surplus power from the Bonneville power administration in Washington State during the summer of 1957. Use of this power plus a cut-back in operation of the John Hart and Ladore Falls plants allowed the large upper reservoir to fill.

The engineer said, however, that even with these developments the power supply position on Vancouver Island is not yet one of surplus. It is now simply able to meet the Island demand in a dry year.

"In order to safeguard the future supply of power to Vancouver Island," he said, "the commission is actively investigating the hydro-electric potential of the Stamp, Sprout, Ucona, Kokish, Nimpkish, Homathko and Chilko rivers as well as possible thermal-electric and other mainland sources."

that the government was undermining public power in B.C.

Since then also there has been a revival of the Conservative in the federal field and reorganization has been undertaken by the Liberals.

And steps have been taken to bring greater unity between the CCF and labor.

If these factors combine to defeat the Social Credit party, opposition parties are expected to demand a general election on grounds a want-of-confidence vote in the government has been expressed.

BENNETT LEAVES

A battery of cabinet ministers also has returned to Victoria.

Left to help organize teams of scrutineers and fleets of cars to get out the voters are the candidates—Donald Brothers, Social Credit, 35-year-old lawyer; Dr. F. E. Krause, Liberal, 58, physician and surgeon; F. E. DeVito, CCF, 38, trail alderman, and Alex Brokenshire, Conservative, 41, Cominco personnel officer.

It is the first by-election in B.C. since Sept. 9, 1957, when Social Credit retained two seats and the CCF one in voting in three ridings.

Standing in the legislature: Social Credit 37, CCF 10, Liberal 2, Independent 2, vacant 1. Total 52.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he had been kept fully informed about this situation and other events during his absence from Ottawa.

NO FURTHER INCREASE

On the Colombo Plan, he indicated the government has no present plans for a further increase in Canadian aid beyond the $50,000,000 it plans to contribute in the next fiscal year starting April 1. The contribution this year was $35,000,000.

He said one could not realize the success of the Colombo Plan "without seeing it in operation" as he had. The plan was one of the "most hopeful institutions of our time."

Asked to comment on possible Canadian recognition of Communist China, he said "I'll deal with that later on." During the brief reference to this subject, he added he has at present no particular plans for meeting soon with President Eisenhower.

NEVER FELT BETTER

The prime minister appeared to be in fine fettle. He told reporters "I have never felt better in years."

Asked whether he considered the trip exhausting, he said it was no worse than a Canadian general election campaign.

He said he was returning to Canada with a "new realization of the importance of the Commonwealth." There was a "very real desire" among Commonwealth members to co-operate for prosperity and freedom. Without exception, he had found warmth everywhere for Canada and Canadians.

BRIGGS

amination was still in progress, Dr. MacLeod said, but added:

MILLION A YEAR

He said the underlying reason for the rates revision is the higher cost of energy and one of the factors involved was higher interest rates which are a direct charge on operations. He said higher interest rates on recent bond issues account for an additional interest cost to the commission of about $1,000,000 a year.

Mr. Crosby, who is chairman of the Power Commission, said that capital assets of the commission had increased from $70,000,000 to $170,000,000 since the appointment of the present commission in March, 1954 and the number of customers had increased from 52,000 to 80,000.

He outlined the general policy and financing of the commission.

Mr. Griffiths, power commission's director of administration, testified that interest on borrowed money constitutes the largest single item of operating cost. For this reason, he said, low interest rates are vital if power is to be available to the public at low rates.

He said that during the last year the commission almost doubled its long-term debt, entering the bond market with no less than seven issues totalling $85,000,000.

MINUTE RETURNS

On the general operating picture, he said, only 2/10 of a cent was left out of every dollar of revenue when all expenses had been met and suitable provisions for emergencies had been made. This surplus was "microscopic point 0.02 per cent of average capital investment."

He said the present gross return on $100 of investment capital is $8.80 and added:

"It is very doubtful whether any electric utility in Canada engaged in generation, transmission and distribution, is able to operate and remain solvent with such a low ratio. The ratio is usually at least double that of the commission's operation."

Two New MPs Picked Today

OTTAWA (CP) — Voting took place today in two federal by-elections to name new Commons members for the residential riding of Toronto Trinity and the primarily rural seat of Springfield, Man.

Both fell to the Progressive Conservatives in their general election landslide last March 31. Although campaigning generally was quiet in both constituencies, the Liberal and CCF parties have worked hard to reverse those results.

Each of the three parties is represented in Springfield, while a Communist candidate makes it a four-way fight in Trinity.

Polling began at 8 a.m. local time, and concludes at 6 p.m.

A break in a month-long cold spell favored voters at Springfield. Early voting was slow at six polls in Beauséjour but party officials said voting increased near noon.

Candidates for the seat left vacant by the death of Progressive Conservative Val Yacula are: Jacob (Jake) Schulz of Winnipeg, CCF; Anton B. Weselak of Beauséjour, Liberal, and Dr. Joseph B. Slagan, Progressive Conservative.

There are 118 polls and about 21,800 voters in the big eastern Manitoba riding.

At Toronto, scattered snow flurries and a high of 25 above zero were forecast.

College Rehires Crowe As Churchill Steps In

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prof. Harry S. Crowe was reinstated at United College today following a nine-month wrangle over a private letter that led to his dismissal and the resignation of 16 other persons.

The reinstatement was announced in a terse 56-word statement from the board of regents which gave no details on how the settlement was reached.

It said the 36-year-old associate professor of history, dismissed in September, would resume his duties immediately.

The statement, issued on behalf of Allan H. Watson, board chairman, said:

"The board hopes that all concerned will now unite in an effort to enable United College to continue its rightful place in the academic world."

It was learned the decision to reinstate Prof. Crowe was made at a board meeting Sunday attended by Trade Minister Gordon Churchill, a member of the board. He had not attended previous meetings on the dispute.

He attended Sunday's meeting after being approached by a third person, a mutual friend of the minister and Mr. Crowe, and receiving a memorandum from Mr. Crowe stating his anxiety to settle the dispute.

Mr. Churchill was returning to Ottawa today and was not available for comment.

In a statement, Prof. Crowe said he had no comment to make on the board's statement but said that with the consent of Mr. Churchill he was releasing a memorandum which he handed to Mr. Churchill on Saturday.

Memorandum to the Honorable Gordon Churchill:

"When I began last April the defence of what I conceived to be my rights as a citizen and as a member of the academic profession, it did not occur to me that the point might be reached where the very existence of United College with its long traditions and in many ways, unique position in Canadian society, would be brought into question. That point seems now to have been reached."

"As a former student of the college and as a faculty member I am proud of the traditions of the college and aware of its vital role in the community."

"For these reasons and in the interests of the students I am most anxious to effect the termination of the public debate of the affairs of the college, to resume my duties in the classroom, to begin within the walls of the college the process of reconstruction and the restoration of academic confidence in the college."

BATTLE AGAINST WINTER is being fought on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River by a number of deep-sea ships trying to reach the sea.

Ice-Clogged Freighters Head for Open Atlantic

MONTREAL (CP)—Fifteen Europe-bound ocean vessels which dared venture from the protecting waters of Montreal Harbor, prepared to take on the ice-clogged St. Lawrence River again today in their bids to reach the comparatively smooth sailing in the gulf and then the Atlantic.

The British freighters Sun-kirk and Norco had made the most progress, reaching Trois-Rivières, 90 miles downstream from Montreal, Sunday night. They were expected to reach Quebec City, 50 miles farther, by tonight.

The icebreakers D'Iberville, Canada's most powerful, and

Ernest Lapointe, sliced their way through the ever-thickening ice in front of the two as temperatures hovered several degrees above the zero mark.

Once past Quebec City, where the river begins to widen to meet the gulf, the going will be much easier.

TWELVE STUCK

Twelve of the 15 were motionless at Larivière, 30 miles downstream from Montreal, since Friday, when unable to penetrate the ice.

The ice was reported to range from a thickness of five or six inches to rafts six feet thick and while the weather is not the sub-zero kind experienced last week, temperatures were still below freezing.

Despite the conditions, transport department officials repeated their promise to get all ocean ships yearning for their European berths free of the river. But they said "it will certainly be a few days yet."

Belgian Fliers Hunted After Antarctic Crash

LONDON (AP)—A drama of the freezing Antarctic developed Sunday night with word that four lost Belgian fliers had abandoned their wrecked plane among icy mountains and set out on foot to find food and shelter.

A Soviet rescue plane located the wreck in the Crystal Mountains of Queen Maud Land and touched down on skis alongside to look for survivors.

Christmas Gifts Stolen From Cars Parked Downtown

Theft of $37 worth of gifts from cars parked downtown Friday night was reported to city police.

Patrick J. Medd, 639 Langford, said three parcels containing $40 worth of children's pajamas, slippers and toys were taken from his car parked on Pandora between Blanshard and Douglas from 9:15 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

John Rendle, 204 Michigan, said his car was forced open as it was parked on Johnson between Broad and Douglas and a $13 sweater and toy monkey valued at $4, property of Victor Skinner, 1830 Newton, were taken.

the pilot found no one there—just a note saying the four Belgian explorers had set off three days ago for a supply depot 80 miles away.

The terrain ahead of them "abounds with crevices," the radio report said.

Soviet pilot Viktor Perov, flying a twin-engine LI-2, quickly took off again from the crash scene and headed over the snow-covered land.

Late Sunday night Moscow Radio said Perov was still searching for the four wandering Belgians, whose little Auster reconnaissance plane vanished Dec. 6.

The crew included Prince Antoine de Ligne, son-in-law of Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg, and Capt. Gaston de Gerlache, 39, leader of the Belgian Antarctic expedition.

Suspect Arrested In Ambush Shooting

WASHINGTON (AP)—A race-horse exercise boy was arrested Sunday as the man who escaped from the ambush shooting at the home of a contractor here Friday night. Police said Lester Lorenzo Jackson, 19, Washington, also wanted on a fugitive warrant in a $22,000 holdup in Buffalo, N.Y., was captured in a rooming house in suburban Fairmont Heights, Md.

IRAQ DENIES EXECUTING EX-PREMIER, 4 OTHERS

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—An official spokesman Sunday flatly denied reports that ex-premier Fadi Jamali and four others had been executed.

"They are still much alive," said the spokesman, referring to the five high officials of the pre-revolutionary regime who recently were convicted of treason and sentenced to death.

The spokesman said there has been no decision yet on possible clemency or commutation of the sentences. In the last few days there has been some pressure in the extreme left wing press for prompt carrying out of the executions.
